PRESIDENT'S DAUGHTER BECOMES A BRIDE

FEDERALS REPEL THE ATTACK ON JUAREZ

MISS JESSIE WILSON AND F. B. SAYRE WED

Executive Mansion a Floral Bower and the Nuptial Scene is One of Rare Brilliance

TROTH PLIGHTED IN NOTABLE COMPANY

Washington, Nov. 25.—Late this afternoon, in the famous east room of the white house, in the presence of a distinguished gathering and with a maze of brilliant lights and of floral beauty as a setting for the scene, Jessie Woodrow Wilson, second daughter of President and Mrs. Wilson, became the bride of Francis Bowes Sayre.

The Rev. Sylvester W. Beach, for many years the president's pastor at Princeton and an old friend of the Wilson family, was the officiating clergyman. Despite the elaborateness of the occasion, it was marked throughout by a simple dignity of infinite charm.

As the Day Began.

Indian summer weather ushered in the wedding day of the white house bride. Carriages began early rolling up to the white house portico and there was a distinct touch of holiday atmosphere everywhere. In the interior of the white house—a floral bower in itself—everything was quiet and in readiness for the ceremony at 4:30 o'clock.

At the executive offices some of the wedding guests came early to pay their respects to President Wilson. Col. E. M. House, of New York, an intimate friend; Cleveland H. Dodge, a Princeton classmate of the president, and John A. Wilson, a cousin, were among the first to arrive. The president had but one business engagement—a cabinet meeting.

Last Pre-Nuptial Function.

Some of the bridal party stopping at the white house were entertained at luncheon by Associate Justice Lamar, of the supreme court, and Mrs. Lamar. It was the last of the series of pre-nuptial functions.

The president and Mrs. Wilson had some of their relatives and friends at luncheon.

Mrs. Wilson visited the executive offices with guests, showed them the president's office and the cabinet room and walked through the south grounds. Mr. Sayre and his best man, Dr. Grenfell, took a long walk in the morning and were at the white house for luncheon.

Miss Mary Tumulty, 9-year-old daughter of Secretary and Mrs. Tumulty, was to be the youngest guest at the wed-

DISTINCT TOUCH OF HOMELINESS

Marks Ceremony in Historic East Room of the White House.

Washington, Nov. 25.—Simplicity with dignity—the same ideal which President Wilson has cherished for his administration since its inauguration—was the predominant note in the arrangements for the marriage late today of Jessie Woodrow Wilson, second daughter of President and Mrs. Wilson, and Francis Bowes Sayre.

During the 113 years that have elapsed since the white house was built, twelve weddings have taken place there, and it falls to the lot of Miss Wilson to be the thirteenth, a coincidence all the more remarkable because the president often has told his friends that the number thirteen has run through his life as a harbinger of good luck. Curiously enough the bridal party and minister number just thirteen.

The ceremony was solemnized in the historic east room, majestically decorated in masses of flowers for the occasion, at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon,

HEAVY GUNS FAIL TO BREAK REBEL LINES

Huerta's Forces Launch Desperate Assault on City But Recently Captured by Villa

FEDERALS IN FLIGHT IS LATE REPORT

El Paso, Tex., Nov. 25.—At noon today the constitutionalist officers in Juarez reported the federals had been driven back all along the rebel front and that Gen. Pancho Villa had ordered a general advance of his men against the federals declared to be in retreat.

An Associated Press representative stationed at the top of a wireless telegraph tower 300 feet high, three miles east of El Paso, confirmed the rebel report that the federals were falling back south of Juarez. He could see the maneuvers with field glasses. At noon the fighting was still in progress south of Juarez.

Renew Attack on Juarez.

The federal troops resumed fighting early today in their attempt to capture Juarez from the constitutionalists under Gen. Francisco Villa. Apparently they depended on their heavy guns to break the rebel lines, the battle opening with heavy cannonading.

Simultaneously firing opened at 4:30 this morning southeast of the Juarez race track and opposite Ysleta, Texas, about twelve miles east of Juarez. The federals used cannon in both attacks. The appearance of the federals near the race track indicated they had worked their way around the rebel outposts during the night.

Contradicts a Claim.

The heavy fighting at Zaragosa, opposite Ysleta, was taken to contradict the claim that Gen. Inez Salazar's troops had been surrounded and virtually made prisoners last night. This claim had been made by Juan N. Medina, chief of Gen. Villa's staff. Early today reports from Ysleta were to the effect that fighting was heavy, the roar of cannon being plainly audible.

Reports also stated that Villa had taken four wagon loads of supplies and ammunition across the border at Socorro during the night, together with a considerable supply of forage for his cavalry.

Hear Sound of Battle.

The sound of battle south of Juarez, the center of Gen. Villa's battle front, was heard here early but the fighting was not close enough for any missiles to fall in Juarez or El Paso. Reports received at rebel headquarters at 9 o'clock stated the rebels had driven the federal center back to Samalayuca, thirty-two miles south. However, cannonading could still be heard in Juarez.

It was admitted at that hour that some of the federals who had passed the constitutionalists' right wing last night were fighting for the water supply at Rancho Flores, twelve miles northwest of Juarez.

Passports were demanded today from all Americans who appeared on the streets of Juarez. Street car traffic

CRACKSMEN GET CASH AND STAMPS

DROP $70 IN FLIGHT

Summitville, Ind., Nov. 25.—The postoffice was broken into here early today and $200 worth of stamps taken, besides between $200 and $300 in money. The theft was not discovered until 7 o'clock, when Miss Pearl Gordon, daughter of W. C. Gordon, postmaster, opened the front door.

Several persons living in the neighborhood heard an explosion at that time and on getting out of bed saw three men running down the railroad track. It is thought the thieves must have been frightened away, as $70 was found on the floor and other money in the safe was overlooked.

Dynamite was used to open the safe and the lock on the building's door was broken. The burglars seem to have made a grab as soon as the safe was blown and then ran, dropping the $70 in their flight.

FUNERAL AT ST. LOUIS.

Daughter of General Sherman Entombed Beside Distinguished Father.

St. Louis, Nov. 25.—The funeral of Mrs. Minnie Sherman Fitch, daughter of Gen. William T. Sherman, was held at St. Francis Xavier Catholic church here today and the body was buried in the family lot in Calvary cemetery, where Gen. Sherman, Mrs. Sherman and a son of the general are buried.

Ransom post, G. A. R., of which Gen. Sherman was one of the founders, acted as a guard of honor.

PARCEL POST HAS BEEN HARD BLOW

Express Companies Suffer Very Heavy Losses in Earnings.

FIGURES BY LEWIS

Washington, Nov. 25.—Under the competition following the inauguration of the parcel post system the express companies of the country have sustained heavy losses in their earnings, according to Representative Lewis, coauthor of the parcel post law.

In making public today figures he had collected on the earnings of the corporations, Mr. Lewis prophesied that within the near future the postoffice department virtually would have a monopoly of the transportation of small articles and that eventually the government might take over the express companies in their entirety.

Mr. Lewis' figures show that the profits of the five leading express companies, which control 87 per cent. of the express business, had fallen steadily since 1911. During the twelve months of 1911-1912, these were represented to be in round figures $5,772,000 and in 1912-1913 this was said to have decreased to $3,290,000. Last June, when the parcel post system had entered full into competition, express profits were wiped out and in the one month a loss of $420,000, according to Mr. Lewis, was sustained by the five corporations in conducting their transportation business.

The Maryland representative announced today he would lead a fight in the coming congress for government ownership of telephone and telegraph lines of the country.

BROTHER THOUGHT DEAD IS LIVING

John Jacobs Hears from Relative First Time Since 1873.

CARRIED MAIL HERE

Coming as a glad surprise is the word that Robert Jacobs, declared legally dead by the Allen county court and missing from Fort Wayne since 1873, is alive and prospering as the owner of a large farm in northwestern Arkansas. A letter received a few days ago by a brother, John Jacobs, of Spy Run avenue, is the first word local relatives had heard from Mr. Jacobs since the winter of 1873, when he quit his position as one of the city's first letter carriers and went west.

Under Postmaster J. J. Kamm, Mr. Jacobs, with Amos R. Walter, August Fuestel, Henry S. Mensch and Adam Link, made up the first staff of letter carriers ever employed by the government in Fort Wayne. For many years Mr. Walter, the deputy United States marshal, has been heralded as the only survivor of this original force of mailmen, but now he must share honors with Mr. Jacobs.

"I certainly would like to see Bob," said Mr. Walter this morning at his office in the federal building. "He and I were the best of friends in those old days and I am very glad to hear that he is still living. Everybody here believed him dead and several years ago, when his father's estate was settled, the court declared him legally dead. Here I have been touted as the only surviving member of that first staff of mail carriers, when I should have been dividing the honor with my old friend."

In a letter to his brother John, Mr. Jacobs states that he is married and has a large farm. The communication was the first message ever received from the long missing man since he left Fort Wayne forty years ago. He is a veteran of the civil war and will be remembered by many of Fort Wayne's older residents. While in the mail service here he carried the downtown route in the business section and was widely acquainted.

A Gridiron Hero

"I NEVER HAD so much distress of mind in my life before," declared H. J. Benret, of the DeWald store.

"Distressed! Why, I didn't suppose you were ever distressed over anything."

"Well, I'm not, usually, but this was an extreme case. When they arranged this football game between the heavyweight business men and the Friars, they came to me and——"

"But I hadn't heard of any game between the heavyweights and the Friars."

"Well, I'm telling you about it—or, at least, I will tell you about it if you will only let me have a chance. Now, then, as I was saying, when they arranged this football game between the heavyweight business men and the Friars, I was scared to death for fear it would fall to my lot to have to play. They gathered all of us chubby fellows together, about two hundred of us, and we drew lots to see who should go into the contest. None of us had ever played football before or else we hadn't played since we were light and muscular, and to drag us into this contest seemed a shame. I remember how scared I was when they approached with the ballots to let us draw out our chance. I took mine with trembling hand—and, sure enough, I was elected to play fullback. Sweat! I know I was as pale as a ghost, and as soon as I could get my breath, I tried to figure out excuses. I was so scared that I could only chatter. Well, my wife was there and she spoke to me in a reassuring way.

"'Don't let them bluff you, Henry,' she said. 'You can play football as well as any of those Friars. Go right in and be a gridiron hero.'

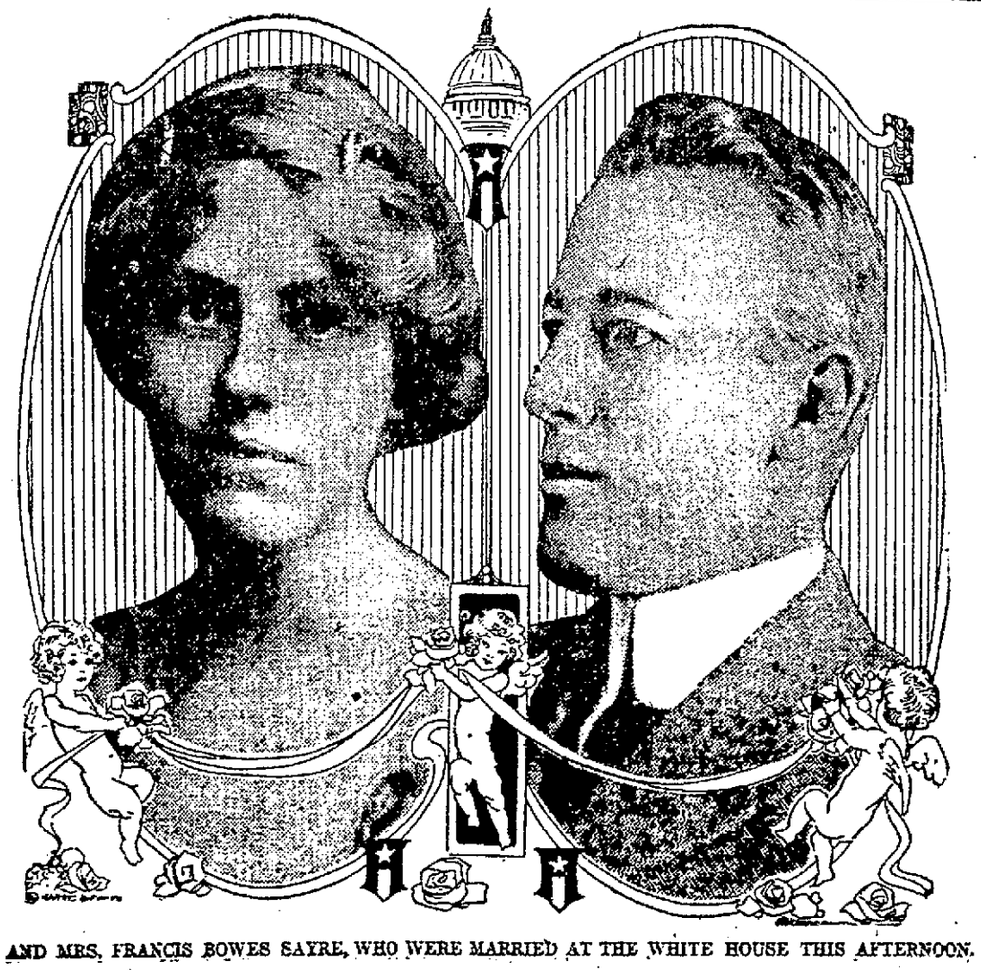
"Well, I am like every other man—anxious to please my wife, and I surely do appreciate words of encouragement, and so, with many misgivings, and with a sad, depressed spirit, I got into the football toggery which they gave me to put on. Someone yelled out that the game was ready to open and we were ordered to our places."

"And you seem to have come out of it all right."

"Come out of it? I should say I did. I woke up right then and there and I haven't had a nightmare like that since that night."

"I got into the toggery."

TODAY'S WHITE HOUSE BRIDE AND BRIDEGROOM.



MR AND MRS. FRANCIS BOWES SAYRE, WHO WERE MARRIED AT THE WHITE HOUSE THIS AFTERNOON.

NARROW ESCAPE FOR BAD NEGRO

Caesar Haynes Flees from Gun Just as Trigger is on the Rise.

NEWS OF THE POLICE

Caesar Haynes, a negro, was cavorting full tilt with a long knife upraised in his hand for Lieut. Will G. Bates, of the Pennsylvania railway police. Lieut. Bates faced the oncoming colored man and drew his gun. In another instant Mistah Haynes would have been simply dark meat, but for Capt. Henry C. Stoll, who called to Lieut. Bates not to shoot. At the same time Haynes had a new impulse and he turned and fled. Lieut. Bates was ready to fire and the trigger of his weapon was on the rise when Haynes side-stepped. Haynes, a "bad nigger from Tennessee, had been working for two weeks on the night shift in the Pennsylvaia freight house. At 5:30 last evening Assistant Foreman A. D. Zuber found him drunk and lounging in the freight house and discharged him. Haynes got sore and drew a knife, inviting Zurber to come forth and be carved Zuber instead called the railway police office and Lieut. Bates responded. Haynes made at him in fury with his knife and would have been shot had not Capt. Stoll appeared. Haynes took to his heels and was captured after a chase down Holman street. The negro was tried for assault today and fined the limit—$10 and costs—which will keep him in jail for sixty days.

Family Affair Again in Court.

Arthur W. Weimer, whose marital troubles have brought him into the city and county courts repeatedly of late, was given an indefinite continuance on a charge of assault and battery on his father-in-law, William E. Russell, 1018 Pape avenue, this morning, after a hearing in which the testimony showed that he was not the aggressor. Weimer and his wife are separated and divorce complaints are pending. Sunday he saw his father-in-law on the street with the little Weimer child, which has been in custody of its mother at the home of her parents, and went across the street to speak to the little one. Russell objected and shoved Weimer away and got a clip in the face for his trouble. Russell then had Weimer arrested.

Other City Court Cases.

Bob McNamara had progressed with the heavy burden of a souse as far as Traffic Officer Shaughnessys corner and just simply couldn't tote the load any farther and went down under it. He said he was making for his room when he crumpled. Judge Mugovan let him go.

Stanislaw Kompania went to a dance and wanted Franceska Kolozidieska to tread the mazy with him, and she turned him down cold. Whereupon Sanislaw displayed violent resentment by jamming Francesca's blonde countenance. She had Stan arrested, but Judge Mungovan and Prosecutor Callahan decided there was too little in the affair to go through the torture of a trial of Poles who cannot speak English, and the man was released.

Ed Poley was arrested yesterday for drunkenness when he fell in what he called a fit and what the police describe as a knockout stew.

WARTELL STORE IS ROBBED.

Thieves Do Neat Job in Calhoun Street Jewelry Establishment.

Robbers who displayed skill and coolness in their work looted the jewelry store of Benjamin Wartell, 1313 Calhoun street, some time between 9:30 and 10 o'clock last night. Fourteen watches left for repair and a new suit of clothes belonging to the proprietor were carried away. The watches have an estimated value of about $250. That the thieves were a tired set is indicated by the fact that twenty-six revolvers that they packed in a traveling bag were found outside in the rear, where the robbers left them doubtless as too heavy to tote. Entrance was gained through a rear window, which was smashed in. The marauders took their time to their work for all of the revolvers were taken from their boxes and stripped of the tissue paper that enclosed them. No attempt was made on the safe and a stock of small diamonds was not molested, although evidently examined by the robbers. The job was discovered at 10:30 o'clock by Night Watchman Charles P. Austin when he made his customary examination of the rear of the store as he made his rounds. Two men seen loitering in the vicinity yesterday had tried to pawn a ring at the Wartell store.

USE HEAVY GUNS TO BREAK REBEL LINLS

across the international bridge was not stopped, but persons having no business in Juarez were hustled back to El Paso by rebel guards.

Clear Hotels for Hospitals.

All hotels in Juarez were cleared during the night by the rebels for use as hospitals. Many wounded were reported left on the field.

A machine gun platoon and troop C of the Thirteenth United States cavalry under Capt. John H. Lewis were reported en route from Jumbus, N. M., to reinforce the border patrol. The machine gun platoon was to reinforce troop D, Thirteenth cavalry, at the international bridge, troop C being stationed at the El Paso foundry. Troop L, Thirteenth cavalry, Capt. W. H. Clopton, en route from Moria, N. M., was to be stationed at the El Paso smelter.

Sleep on Arms in Rain.

Sleeping on their arms under a downpour of rain after their night of victorious fighting against the federal army, 7,000 rebel troops under Francisco Villa rested this morning. The rebels expected to renew the battle today and hope to capture the federal general, Jose Ynes Salazar, who with his soldiers is surrounded near Rancho Flores. The rebels say they are anxious to capture Gen. Salazar so that he may be hanged to a telephone pole in Juarez.

Though the federals were repelled from their attack to gain possession of Juarez after eight hours fighting, Gen. Villa believes that he must further harass the enemy if he would gain for his cause the territory north of Chihuahua City and deliver upon them such a crushing defeat that the federal army of Chihuahua will be demoralized. Gen. Villa said the federal forces are a few miles south of Samalayuca, but with one of their troop trains, loaded with soldiers, surrounded by rebels. The general expects the government troops to make a sortie today to rescue the train and is making preparation to defeat them.

Formidable Battle Line.

Stretched in a semi-circle, for fifteen miles, the rebel troops present a formidable battle line, and so far the constitutionalist leader has been able to make all detached attacks become general engagements in which the whole of his army is employed.

It was in this manner that he repelled the first onslaught of the federals yesterday afternoon and forced them to await darkness for resumption of their main attack which Villa through a strategic move turned into rout. With campfires burning and all signs of camp life evident at the main wing at Tierra Blanca, Villa marched his men forth to attack the federals. Reinforcements were to meet him at a specified point, from both left and right wings.

At the same moment the federals advanced and met the combined attack of the rebel left, right and front, as unexpectedly as they themselves planned to attack the constitutionalists.

Federal Losses Heavy.

The fight was sharp, hand to hand, in many instances, and the losses on the federal side are said to have been heavy.

Consternation struck the federals, who began a disorderly retreat. Villa gave the order for his cavalry to charge and the federals were pursued to their trains, which immediately retreated to the southward. The word came into Juarez that Salazar, the general who had won so many victories under Madero, was pressing Juarez upon the left and that his attack seemed successful. Col. Juan N. Medina, in command of the Juarez garrison, dispatched every available trooper to assist the rebels on the east of Juarez.

There a battle waged fiercely for three hours and as the main portion of the army dropped back from its victory additional reinforcements were sent to Rancho Flores and the entire Salazar command surrounded by rebels.

Caught in Rebel Trap.

At midnight the fighting ceased, with Salazar and his men caught in the rebel trap. An attempt will be made to take Salazar into Juarez today. At a moment last night when the situation looked grave for the rebels and Salazar's approach upon Juarez became threatening, all Americans and foreigners were ordered out of Juarez and under military escort were conducted to the international bridge in El Paso.

Those Americans who were dilatory about leaving Juarez were placed under arrest and forcibly ejected. No reports were made here to indicate that Americans or foreigners had been subjected to any indignity other than the forcible deportation, which to Col. Medina seemed necessary for their protection. Newspaper correspondents were not permitted in Juarez until midnight and those who accompanied Villa's troops to the south did not return until this morning.

Report Chihuahua Fallen.

Shortly after the heat of battle had passed there came a report that Chihuahua City had fallen to the rebels, it having been almost deserted by federals sent to reinforce the government troops at Samalayuca. This report is yet unverified, but it is known that a strong band of constitutionalists under Gen. Chao were in the vicinty of Chihuahua City yesterday. Gen. Villa is taking every precaution against a possible rally by the federals and said he intended to strike today while they yet are in a demoralized condition.

ding. None of the cabinet children had been invited.

It became known today that the newly wedded couple will spend the greater part of their honeymoon abroad. It is thought they will sail within a week, though the time of their departure and destination is being kept secret.

Captain Bill Is There.

Capt. Bill McDonald, United States marshal for Northern Texas, formerly body guard of President Wilson and a veteran Texas ranger, came to town early today to attend the write house wedding. Captain Bill arrived early, wearing a broad Texas sombrero and with his coat skirts bulging as usual about the hip pocket. The captain said he was somewhat embarrassed over the way he was to be dressed.

"I reckon I'll have to get some one to help me get harnessed," said Captain Bill to some of his friends in the executive office. "It'll be like putting a new harness on a broncho mule that's never been bridled."

The captain asked if there wasn't some way whereby he could be excused from wearing a formal afternoon dress, but finally decided to yield to convention.

Word "Obey" Omitted.

The fact that the word "obey" was to be omitted from the service attracted some attention, but reference to the book of common worship of the Presbyterian church discloses that the word "obey" is not included in the Presbyterian form as it is in the Episcopal service.

"In all love and honor, in all duty and service, in all faith and tenderness," are the words which distinguish the Presbyterian service.

After a long automobile ride members of the bridal party congregated at the white house again shortly after noon.

The last floral piece to be placed in the east room was a huge mountain of white chrysanthemums sent by the minister of Equador. It represented the highest mountain in Ecuador and was encircled by flags and the coat of arms of the South American republic.

Large Force of Postal Carriers and Clerks to Be Employed

FOR CHRISTMAS RUSH

Postmaster Robert B. Hanna received an allowance of $1,455 from Washington to be used for the employment of extra help in Fort Wayne during the Christmas rush, and for vehicles to collect and deliver Christmas mail.

Everything is in the best of condition at the local postoffice for taking care of the increased holiday business, and just as soon as the increase warrants a large force of extra clerks and carriers will be added to the regular staff.

The department is making an advertising campaign for the purpose of inducing Christmas shoppers to mail their Christmas packages early. Cards have been sent about the city, and the citizens are asked to mail their holiday gifts as early as possible.

INJURIES FATAL TO AGED PUMPER

William Brenneman Was Caught in Wheel at the Station

NICKEL PLATE MAN

William Brenneman, aged 60 years, a pumper employed by the Nickel Plate railroad, died at 12:45 o'clock this afternoon at his home, 1006 Herman street, from injuries sustained at 10 o'clock Monday morning when he was caught in a fly wheel of the engine at the west yards pumping station.

The unfortunate man was oiling the engine when his coat sleeve caught on an oil cup and he was thrown into the fly wheel. Before the machinery could be stopped he was badly injured, several bones having been broken, and the aged man was rendered unconscious. With terrific force he was whirled about with the wheel and it is considered miraculous that he was not instantly killed.

Surviving he leaves a wife and five children, Charles F. and Miss Lesta Brenneman, Mrs. John Longley and Mrs. Edward Holmes, of this city, and Mrs. Leroy Pettijohn, of Indianapolis.

MRS. F. A. M'MAKEN DIES AT DECATUR

Well Known Fort Wayne Lady Passes Away Suddenly

AT HOME OF COUSIN

Sarah Florence McMaken, the wife of Frank A. McMaken, of 1427 North Calhoun street, died suddenly at 11 o'clock Monday night at the home of a cousin, Caleb Andrews, of Decatur, Ind., where she had been visiting since last Friday. Death was due to heart disease. Mrs. McMaken was forty-nine years of age.

News of her sudden death was telegraphed to Fort Wayne at an early hour this morning and came as a sorrowful shock to her many acquaintances here. She was an active worker in the congregation of the Trinity Methodist Episcopal church and was widely known.

Mrs. McMaken was born September 16, 1864, at Dixon, Ohio. She had been a resident of Fort Wayne for many years and her husband is the well known plumber. Surviving besides the husband she leaves four children, Harry D., Frank R., Florence G. and Robert O. McMaken, all of Fort Wayne. She also leaves two brothers, Louis and Orin Mc Donald, of Sam Jose, Cal.

SAVIO.

Mrs. Hannah Savio, aged sixty-four years, a well known resident of Jefferson township, died Monday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Jessie Fry, near Maples.

Surviving besides the daughter, with whom she resided, are three grandchildren and one great grandchild. The husband and two children preceded her in death.

Funeral services Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock from the residence and at 11 o'clock from the Methodist Episcopal church at New Haven. Interment at the I. O. O. F. cemetery.

WEISS.

Karl A. Weiss, aged 14 days, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinand Weiss, of 1901 Sinclair street, died at 11 o'clock this morning. The father is a knitter employed at the Wayne Knitting mills.

GROWES.

Oscar Growes, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Growes, of 2427 Winter street, died at 10 o'clock this morning. Funeral services were held at 2 o'clock this afternoon from the residence.

WATERS.

Charles Isador Waters, the one-day-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen W. Waters, of 1351 Guthrie street, died at 5 o'clock this morning.

FUNERAL NOTICES.

Parker.—Funeral services for Amanda E. Parker will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the First Methodist Episcopal church. Interment at Lindenwood.

DEATH RUMOR UNTRUE.

Cincinnati, O., Nov. 25.—Bernard T. Wisenall, of Covington, Ky., an architect with offices in Cincinnati, who was reported dead at Malvern, Ark., yesterday, is alive and well here. Wisenall said he believed the body of the man at Malvern was that of Clifford Harwood, a draughtsman, who formerly worked for him in Cincinnati.

EVA TANGUAY IS THE COY BRIDE

Noted Entertainer Comes Near Bolting at Her Wedding.

MARRIES A DANCER

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 25.—Eva Tanguay—Eva of diaphanous gowns and "I don't care" song, was married here early last evening in the dingy office of Justice of the Peace Thomas to Johnny Ford, an eccentric dancer in her company.

The justice's office is directly opposite the stage door of the theater, but it was hard to get Eva across the street. She started three times and backed out twice. Once across it was hard to get her into the office where the justice could perform the marriage ceremony.

"Come, Eva," pleaded Johnny, "I love you." Eva drew farther back. "Come, sweetheart, I love you."

"I love you, all right," said Eva, "but, Johnny, let's wait just till after the performance tonight, then I'll marry you. Honest, I will."

Johnny winked at the justice and the latter prepared to close his office for the night.

"I'll come, Johnny," exclaimed Eva, hurriedly. And she did.

After the justice had completed the ceremony, Eva said: "That can't make us man and wife, can it?"

The judge assured her she was thoroughly married.

The license gave Eva's age as 33 and Johnny's as 32. She said she had not been married before. He admitted he had been married once.

Miss Tanguay's manager was the most surprised man in the world when told that his star had married Ford. The company plays tonight at Sandusky.

Before Eva would enter the office of the justice of the peace who tied the knot she had Ford precede her. He entered and said, "The lady doesn't like an audience." So all the onlookers were cleared out, and the reporters had to hide in a nearby clothes closet to watch the ceremony.

7,000 MARCH OUT AT SCHENECTADY

But Early Settlement is Expected in General Electric Strike.

NO DISORDER ENSUES

Schenectady, N. Y., Nov. 25.—Seven thousand employes of the General Electric company struck this morning shortly after 8 o'clock. The men and women walked out while a conference was in progress between General Manager Emmons, Superintendent Smith and union officials.

There was no disorder among the striking employes. After walking out of the plant they assembled in front of the general offices and a grievance committee entered. The others marched to the center of the city and there dispersed. Most of them went to their homes immediately. Many of the workers expressed confidence that an amicable agreement would be reached soon.

About 10,000 workers still were at the plant when the strikers left. None of them were members of the union. The plant is run on the open shop plan. Neither Frank Dujay nor Miss Mabel Leslie, the two union leaders whose removal from their work caused the walkout, was in evidence this morning.

Later in the day Dujay and Miss Leslie addressed 1,000 women who crowded into Mayor Lunn's Peoples' church. Other labor leaders spoke at meetings held in halls throughout the city. Several workers said the unions demand that they quit work against their will and demanded a full explanation of the situation. J. W. McEntee, an international officer of the Machinists' union, who has been acting as go-between for the men and the company, left for Chicago this morning.

In a statement issued today Mayor Lunn said that no strikers would go hungry so long as he was mayor.

POSTPONE WAGE DEMAND.

Egg Inspectors' Union at Pittsburg Gets Raise Later.

Pittsburg, Nov. 25.—After a meeting lasting until early today the Egg Inspectors' union decided to postpone enforcement of their demands for $3 a day of eight hours until after December 1. On that date more than a million dozen eggs in Pittsburg warehouses must be released under the Pennsylvania cold storage law and the candlers are needed to inspect them. With this in mind twenty employers of candlers sent word to the meeting that if the men would continue to work until the first of next month the higher rate would be paid. The men are endeavoring today to secure the consent of the remaining fifty employers to their agreement.

BASH TO BE AT CORN SHOW.

Fort Wayne Seedman to Deliver Address in Columbia City.

Columbia City, Ind., Nov. 25.—Mr. Charles S. Bash, of Fort Wayne, of S. Bash & Co., commission merchants, will make a talk before the Corn Growers' association at the annual corn show. This great show will be held on Friday, the 28th, and Saturday, the 29th of November, and Mr. Bash will talk about 2 o'clock on Saturday afternoon. Mr. Bash has been a very extensive dealer in farm products all his life, and has not only been interested in the buying and selling of farm products, but is also a producer, having large tracts of land under his control. This will be a great chance to hear a good speaker on a live and vital question to the farmers of Whitley county. Everybody is welcome and no admittance fee will be charged. Good seats have been provided and you will miss a great treat if you fail to be there.

LADS AS TRAIN WRECKERS.

Haggerty Boys Try to Ditch B. & O. Fast Train at Albion, Ind.

Albion, Ind., Nov. 25.—Caught in the act of attempting to wreck fast express train, No. 8, on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, three small boys, sons of James and Al Haggerty, of this place, appeared in the juvenile court and were found guilty of a misdemeanor. They were sent to the reformatory. The youngest of the boys was ten and the oldest thirteen years of age.

Two attempts were made by the boys to wreck the train. Planks and ties were piled on the track and while the boys were busy, section men saw them and took them into custody. The timely discovery prevented a wreck.

GIRL TAKES HORSE MEDICINE.

Auburn, Ind., Nov. 25.—Miss Olive B. Gratz, daughter of Jacob Gratz, who resides near Spencerville, has been in a very critical condition, due to the fact that she took horse colic medicine as a cure for eating too many apples.

The girl ate too many green apples and in order to relieve the pain caused by the over consumption she got hold of a bottle of horse medicine by mistake. The medicine is very poisonous and her condition was critical for a few hours. Dr. Shook, of Spencerville, was called as soon as her parents found out what she had taken and administered medical aid, which had the desired effect and saved the girl's life. The daughter has recovered so that she is up and around, but she is suffering a great deal from the effects of the poison.

WELLS COUNTY FARMER DIES.

Berne, Ind., Nov. 25.—After a severe illness of only a week David Lehman, a retired French township farmer, living in Berne since 1904, succumbed to his sufferings and is dead here. The cause of his demise was rupture, from which he had suffered slightly for a number of years. David Lehman was born in Putnam county, Ohio, Nov. 27, 1850, thus lacking three days of being 63 years of age at his death. He was married to Elizabeth Moser April 1, 1876, and then lived on his farm in French township, close to the Wabash river, until 1904, when the family moved to Berne. Nine children are living, two having died, and eleven grandchildren, with the mother and grandmother (now a helpless invalid for the past twenty months.)

CORN-SHREDDER SEASON OPENS.

Bluffton, Ind., Nov. 25.—Homer Williams, a son of Hiram Williams, of Reiffsburg, lost three fingers from his left hand in the first corn shredder accident reported yet this season. Mr. Williams has been working with Frank Myers and was at work with Mr. Myers' machine at the Kaltwasser farm, southeast of Bluffton, owned by C. B. Funk. Mr. Williams and Mr. Myers were not positive as to how the accident happened. Mr. Williams' hand was drawn into the rollers and the last three fingers were terribly mangled before the machine could be stopped. He was brought to Bluffton and Dr. L. H. Cook amputated the mangled digits. The index finger was saved, although it was badly lacerated.

ARM BROKEN IN RUNAWAY.

Bluffton, Ind., Nov. 25.—Mrs. Malish, of Lawrenceville, Ill., who has been making a short visit here as the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Wm Noe, who lives near Mt. Zion, suffered a fractured arm in a runaway accident. Mr. Noe was taking her to Keystone to catch a car and his horse frightened and upset the buggy. The accident happened southeast of Mt. Zion near the Fred Crosbie farm. Mrs. Malish was cared for at a neighboring farm house and was then taken back to her daughter's home. She was starting on her journey home, but will be obliged to remain in Wells county until she at least partially recovers from her injury.

STRICKEN IN CORN FIELD.

Berne, Ind., Nov. 25.—While working in the corn field, Peter Mazelin received a stroke of paralysis. Although he was alone at the time someone reached his side soon afterward. He was then taken into the house, where he died after about five or six hours. He had been complaining some before that time, but it was not supposed it would turn out that seriously. He was born June 26, 1830, in Monroe township and died at his home two miles northeast of Berne Sunday, November 22, 1913, at the age of 63 years, 4 months and 26 days. He was married twice, his first wife having died many years ago.

HAD NARROW ESCAPE.

Kendallville, Ind., Nov. 25.—Jacob Marti, an Allen township farmer, severely bruised his hip and had a miraculous escape from death when he was hurled from a light spring wagon, in which he was riding, as the result of a rear-end collision with a runaway horse. His wagon was practically demolished.

Marti was driving west on Mitchell street when the runaway horse, belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Howard Davis, residing east of the city, came madly dashing down the street. Before Marti had time to jump the runaway horse plunged into his wagon, which was loaded with several crates of potatoes and a coop of chickens.

TO RECOUNT GARRETT VOTES.

Auburn, Ind., Nov. 25.—Judge Powers has granted the petition asking for a recount of the ballots cast for councilman at large in the Garrett city election held on November 4, 1913. The order provides that the recount of votes shall commence Wednesday, November 25, in the office of the clerk of the court and that Sheldon McLead, Bert C. Fitch and Walter Scatterfield are appointed as commissioners to make the recount. The petitioner, Mr. Betts, and other candidates for councilman and two qualified voters selected by each of the candidates for said office may be present and witness the count of the votes.

CHIROPRACTOR WILL FIGHT.

Columbia City, Ind., Nov. 25.—Ormel D. Brownell, chiropractor, with offices at the Masonic Temple building in this city, and also in Warsaw, has been indicted by the recent Kosciusko grand jury, charged with practicing medicine without a license, but has furnished bond and will make a test case of it, and go on with his work until the courts decide whether he is guilty of violating any statutes. The warrant was served upon him Saturday at Warsaw, where he spends three days of the week, the other three being spent here.

WOMAN HURT IN FALL FROM BED.

Columbia City, Ind Nov. 25.—Mrs. Rachael Fox, aged 76 years, who resided in this city three years ago, and who sustained a fracture of the left collar bone in a fall at her home on West Market street, sustained a similar injury Sunday afternoon at her home in Richland township, when she attempted to get out of bed. Her right collar bone was fractured this time. Dr. O. V. Schuman gave her attention after Ben Helfrich, a near neighbor, had called him.

MANIAC WRECKING A JAIL.

Albion, Nov. 25.—Harry Clouse, the Green township farmer, has been adjudged insane by a special commission. For several days he was a raving maniac and created much disturbance.

During his confinement in the county jail he broke the water pipes and flooded the jail. Today he has quieted down and is more rational. He will be taken to the hospital as soon as admission is granted.

Easy to Darken Your Gray Hair

You can Bring Back Color and Lustre with Sage Tea and Sulphur.

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is mussy and troublesome. For 50 cents you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use tonic called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small straud at a time. By morning all gray hair disppears, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant. You will also discover dandruff is gone and hair has stopped falling.

Gray, fade hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur and look years younger.—Adv.

OSSIAN NEWS.

Ossian, Ind., Nov. 25.—The funeral of Mrs. Dell Koons took place Monday at 2 p. m. from the Presbyterian church and the services were in charge of Rev. Frank K. Baker. Mrs. Koons died of tuberculosis Thursday, Nov. 20, at Las Vegas, N. M., where she had gone about six weeks ago in hopes that the climate might benefit her health. The deceased, who was Miss Harriet May Spear, was born in Bradford, Pa., Nov. 28, 1880. At the age of sixteen she united with the Presbyterian church and had ever since been an active and faithful member. With her parents she moved to Montpelier, where in September, 1904, she was married by Rev. C. C. Combrink, then pastor of the Ossian Presbyterian church, to Dell Koons, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Koons, of Ossian. To this union was born one daughter, Gretchen, now eight years of age. Mrs. Koons is survived by her husband and daughter, also by her mother, Mrs. Mary Spear, of Indianapolis; two sisters, Miss Cora Spear and Mrs. Carl Bonham, of Montpelier, and a brother living in California.

Miss Erma Comer, of Poe, is a guest this week of Mrs. Sidney Swaim.

Rev. W. E. Hunter, of Columbia City, came Sunday afternoon to be with his wife, who is ill of pneumonia at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Poe. Mrs. Hunter is reported a little better.

Miss Lizzie Johnston entertained on Sunday Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Johnston, sons James and Edward, and Mrs. Johnston's mother, Mrs. Hiram Tewksberry, all of Montpelier.

Healthy, Wrinkle-Free Skin Easy to Have.

(From The Woman Beautiful.)

A dull, drab, muddy complexion, or an over-red blotchy, pimply or freckled skin, can by a quite simple, harmless and inexpensive method, be changed to one of flower-like radiance and purity. One ounce of common mercolized wax, sold by druggists generally, will remove the most unsightly complexion in from one to two weeks. By its remarkable absorptive power the withered, faded or discolored layer of thin film-skin which hides the healthier skin underneath is gradually flecked off in tiny, almost invisible particles. This is done so gently there is no inconvenience, and no trace is left on the skin except that of enhanced beauty. The wax is smeared on like cold cream before retiring, and removed in the morning with warm water.

If the skin be wrinkled or saggy, a face bath made by dissolving 1 oz. powdered saxolite in ½ pt. witch hazel will be found most effective. Combining both astringent and tonic properties, this tightens the skin and braces up its supporting muscles.

COLUMBIA CITY NEWS.

Columbia City, Ind., Nov. 25.—Albert Wagoner, the west side green house man, has been selected to be the judge at the apple show, which will be held in connection with the corn show at the Myers hall on Friday and Saturday.

The Thanksgiving vacation starts Wednesday in the city schools and will continue until Monday morning, Dec. 1st.

Arthur Stouff, who has been employed for the past two years in the Quality Shop clothing store, left Monday for his home at Richmond, Va. He will visit his parents there until New Year's.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter T. Binder arrived home Sunday night from Chicago, where they spent a short honeymoon, following their marriage last Thursday. They are at home on the corner of Jackson and Whitley streets.

Frank Sharp, residing on the south side, who is employed by the Peabody Lumber company, in the capacity of fireman, accidentally struck himself on the knee with a hammer Saturday, fracturing the patella and causing blood poisoning. The injury is very severe and painful. Dr. Carl Souders is attending him.

Park Moore, one of the best known farmers of Union township, whose home is east of Columbia City, died Sunday night at 9:40 o'clock, following an operation for gall stones that he submitted to ten days ago. It was found after the operation that he was afflicted with Bright's disease, of probably two years' duration, that had previously not manifested itself, but the weakened state of the patient after the operation allowed the disease to gain a fatal foothold and death resulted. He was constantly under the care of a trained nurse during his last illness.

About forty people came here yesterday from South Whitley to attend and testify in the case of the state vs. Roy Keiser, on a charge of assault and battery with intent to kill. Attorneys W. F. McNagny, B. J. Bloom, Prosecutor Spangler and Deputy Prosecutor C. O. France are the lawyers for the state, and Gates and Whiteleather are defending Keiser.

Clerk Harrison issued several more hunters' licenses Saturday and Monday and the grand total issued to date for the month of November shows 210.

HOLIDAYS ARE ANNOUNCED.

The School Board Decides to Open the Rudisill School.

It was decided last evening at the meeting of the school board that the schools of Fort Wayne would close Wednesday evening and remain closed until the following Monday morning for the Thanksgiving vacation. The board also decided that the schools would close the and open again the first Monday in January.

The Rudisill school is now nearing completion and the board derided to open the building at the beginning of the second semester, which opens February 1. The building is now ready for the inside furnishings.

FRUIT LAXATIVE FOR SICK CHILD GIVE "CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF FIGS"

Cleanses tender little stomach, liver, bowels without injury.

Every mother realizes that this is the children's ideal laxative and physic, because they love its pleasant taste and it never fails to effect a thorough "inside cleansing" without griping.

When your child is cross, irritable, feverish, or breath is bad, stomach sour, look at the tongue, mother! If coated, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the bowels and you have a well, playful child again. When its little system is full of cold, throat sore, has stomach ache, diarrhoea, indigestion, colic—remember a good liver and bowel cleansing should always be the first treatment given.

Millions of mothers keep "California Syrup of Figs" handy; they know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are plainly on each bottle.

Ask your druggist for a 50 cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs." Beware of counterfeits sold here. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other fig syrup with contempt.—Adv.

THE SENTINEL'S DAILY SCRIPTURE READING.

Jude Verses 1-13.

1 Judge, the servant of Jesus Christ, and brother of James, to them that are sanctified by God the Father, and preserved in Jesus Christ, and called:

2 Mercy unto you, and peace, and love, be multiplied.

3 Beloved, when I gave all diligence to write unto you of the common salvation, it was needful for me to write unto you, and exhort you that ye should earnestly contend for the faith which was once delivered unto the saints.

4 For there are certain men crept in unawares, who were before of old ordained to this condemnation, ungoldly men, turning the grace of our God into lasciviousness, and denying the only Lord God, and our Lord Jesus Christ.

5 I will therefore put you in remembrance, though ye once knew this, how that the Lord, having saved the people out of the land of Egypt, afterward destroyed them that believed not.

6 And the angles which kept not their arst estate, but left their own habitation, he hath reserved .n everlasting chains under darkness unto the judgment of the great day.

7 Even as Sodom and Gomorrha, and the cities about them in like manner, giving themselves over to fornication, and going after strange flesh, are set forth for an example, suffering the vengeance of eternal fire.

8 Likewise also these filthy dreamers defile the flesh, despite dominion, and speak evil of dignities.

9 Yet Michael the archangel, when contending with the devil he disputed about the body of Moses, durst not bring against him a railing accusation, but said, The Lord rebuke thee.

10 But these speak evil of those things which they know not: but what they know naturally, as brute beasts, in those things they corrupt themselves.

11 Woe unto them! for they have gone in the way of Cain, and ran greedily after the error of Balaam for reward, and perished in the gainsaying of Core.

12 These are spots in your feasts of charity, when they feast with you, feeling themselves without fear: clouds they are without water, carried about of winds; trees whose fruit withereth, without fruit, twice dead, plucked up by the roots;

13 Raging waves of the sea, foaming out their own shame; wandering stars, to whom is reserved the blackness of darkness for ever.

Using the Force of Public Opinion

Three months ago your judgment would not have been seriously questioned had you proclaimed that before this date the United States would have taken the step of armed intervention in Mexico—that United States soldiers would have been thrown across the line to suppress uprising and bring governmental order out of the chaos that has existed there. But no such step has been taken, and the chances of necessity for any such radical measures are happily growing more and more remote. There is a reason for it, and that reason is the fact that President Wilson has been demonstrating the great force of public opinion as a corrector of conditions and as the alternative of resort to arms,

Let none suppose the president has been sitting idly by, merely hoping for peaceful outcome of the disturbance. Mr. Wilson has been as deeply engaged and as strenuously active as though Uncle Sam had in fact sent his army across the Rio Grande and trained the armament of his big sea fighters upon the coast cities of the southern republic. He has set down the principle that the United States will not lend its countenance to jack-in-the-box tyrants who rise to temporary power by treachery, fraud or force. He refuses to use the military arm of the country as a collecting agency for bad debts accumulated in the plunge of foreign speculation. He declines to have part or share in a baptism of blood for the hapless peons in Mexico because their oppressors are in a quarrel over the spoils.

What President Wilson is seeking to do is to use the power of the world's best opinion to bring an end to pillage and exploitation, and to demonstrate that without this support no government can long endure. Instead of grab and gouge it aims to aid and serve. It is an undertaking high, noble and fine. If it succeeds, as it now promises to do, it will be the most notable triumph of a new system of diplomacy the world has ever known.

Very naturally the entire country is manifesting profound interest in the marriage of the president's second daughter, Miss Jessie Wilson, to Mr. Francis B. Sayre. No doubt the young couple would infinitely prefer the quiet, unobtrusive wedding ceremony that the position of the bride's family makes quite impossible, but it must be said that simplicity has governed the preparations for the event so far as circumstances would permit. The entire country has taken a decided "liking" to the Wilson girls. The bride, too, has won infinite praise for her thoughtful, purposeful, helpful work in social service. Her choice of a husband appears to have been a most happy one, for all accounts agree that Young Sayre is fine of character, capable in intellect, and possessed of a desire to be of real use in the world. The country will unite most heartily in the happiest felicitations to the White House bridal pair.

South Bend has just petitioned the state public service commission to intervene in the question of lighting rates, asserting the belief that the bid submitted by the company for a new contract is excessive. Very happily Indiana has now supplied an avenue through which questions of this kind can be adjusted without the harassment, the inconvenience and the expense of a protracted wrangle between the city and the utility company. There is the further assurance, also, that when it is settled the rate will be fair to both the city and the service concern.

Chicago has put the ban on the "26" dice game which has been flourishing in cigar stores in that city, declaring it a gamble of the rankest variety. When Chicago regards "26" as too tough to stand longer, it is time to look into the status of the game in other cities.

THE MAN IN THE MOON AND HIS TURKEY, TOO—BUT WHERE'S THE MAN?

Of course, any boy or girl can see the big turkey gobbler right away, but how about the man in the moon? See him? No? Hold the picture off a little ways, take your eye off the turkey; tilt it a bit to the right, and imagine that little bird flying across the picture is an eye. Now you see it, don't you, as real as any man in the moon ever was?

PRESS ON FIRST PARCEL POST YEAR.

A Retail Store.

Arkansas Gazette: "The parcel post enables the wideawake farmer or his wife or children—to make the farm a retail store. All sorts of eatables can be disposed of by mail."

Stopped the Croakers.

Detroit Tribune: "The success of the parcel post in its first year has stopped the croakers against reform. The government has been proved to be able to take progressive steps in business administration."

The Railroads.

Albany Argus "It is very likely that there will be a new adjustment of terms with the railroads for carrying the parcel post, for in some cases the railroad companies seem to have been inadequately paid."

Remarkable Exhibit.

Louisville Courier-Journal: "The total income from the parcel post will be around $80,000,000. This is a remarkable exhibit for the first year's business, and it demonstrates the great popularity and possibilities of the system."

The Postoffice.

Buffalo News: "The postoffice was made for the people and is run by the people. If the various kinds of service were paid it would be highly profitable to the people in every respect."

Enlargement Certain.

St. Paul Dispatch: "The remarkable popularity of the parcel post is shown by the figures for the year, and the enlargement of the idea next year in many directions is certain."

Greatest Test to Come.

Savannah Press: "The greatest test the parcel post system has had since it was inaugurated will come during the next six weeks. If it can weather the Christmas rush it can be counted as among the fixtures in the postal service of the country."

Contention of Railroads.

Providence Journal: "There seems to be no disputing the contention of the railroads that, under contracts entered into before we had the parcel post, they are not being fairly paid for the heavy additional service."

THAT NEW YEAR'S RECEPTION.

(Indianapolis Star.)

The only objection of any consequence to President Wilson's determination to do away with the customary New Year's reception at the white house is that it is the only occasion when the public is freely admitted—the only really democratic gathering of the year in the historic mansion, all other receptions being attended by those who have received special invitations. This, however, is not a serious objection when the other side of the question in considered.

Presidential New Year's receptions began in the old days when it was customary for people in many circles of society to hold "open house" to their friends on the first day of the year. All their friends and acquaintances were welcome and the day was given up to the greeting of callers. Washington was a small city in those days, and when the white house doors were open like the rest, it was no overwhelming task for the president to meet and shake hands with all who called to "pay their respects."

But that time has passed. Thousands now flock to the white house on New Year's day, where formerly scores and hundreds went, as many as 5,000 visitors having been received on some recent New Year's days. This is a great tax on the physical strength of the president. Even burly Mr. Taft complained of it, and Mr. Wilson's bodily endurance must be much less than his. No one can seriously blame him for resolving to evade this really needless tax on his nervous energies by omitting the ordeal altogether. Once omitted, it will probably never be resumed. Many customs, whose reason for being no longer exists and whose continuance becomes irksome, need only that some one with official authority shall lop them off to effect a real reform. Mr. Wilson's course in this case is probably in the nature of reform.

PRESS ON CURRENCY REFORM MEASURE.

Prospects Very Dim.

Philadelphia Press: "The prospects of the new banking and currency bill becoming a law at the special session are growing very dim. The talk of a caucus shows that there is even some doubt of its reaching the senate unless some party compulsion is used."

Pestilential.

New York Globe: "If it is pestilential blindly to oppose every suggestion coming from the financial district because of the prejudice against Wall street, it is equally pestilential for the financial district to be blindly against everything Washington proposes."

Greenback Era.

Detroit Tribune. "The greenback era of money discussion was the real beginning of popular education in finance. It rose to a formidable pitch and then gradually subsided."

Threat of Caucus.

Washington Herald: "Threat of a caucus to force the inaction of currency legislation, half baked and underdone, through the senate, should not be carried into execution."

Wisdom of Administration.

Washington Post: "The wisdom of the administration in refraining from making currency reform a partisan matter and in adhering to that policy regardless of consequences now stands out more prominently than before."

Secretary Bryan.

Chicago Inter-Ocean: "Upon the currency question the president's mind seems to have been 'swathed' by Secretary of State Bryan and not by the atmosphere of the thought of the United States.'"

Monetary Commission.

Baltimore Sun: "A very solid basis for legislation had been laid before the Glass-Owen bill was framed. The national monetary commission had spent years in a close study of the banking and currency systems of other countries and of our own."

Caucus Action.

Washington Star: "Caucus action on the tariff was criticised, and Senator Cummins in the extravagance of stump oratory has just characterized it as treason. But the tariff has long been recognized as distinctly a political question."

A Large and Interesting Family of New Citizens

Just arrived at this store after their perilous journey across the sea.

These are the new members of the Doll Family, more interesting than ever. What is still better there are more of them than ever before. The new dolls are different, and the difference is due to the alert mind of the American child, showing a decided preference for dolls with expression and character and making that preference so well known that it is felt in the centers of the Doll industry across the ocean. There are character dolls, with the Kewpies leading the procession, there are hundreds of others, large and small, with handsome child-like faces, instead of vacant countenances. They are marvelously life-like, and unusually well made. Some are extremely large. Any of them will win a home in a child's heart at once.

A Splendid Showing of Brassware for Xmas

This is a large and complete collection of smokers' sets, both in pedestal form and smaller. Many new features make them unique and add to their attractiveness. The pedestal outfits are unusually good and unusually cheap, and they are distinctly objects of ornament as well as utility. There are dozens of different sizes and shapes of outfits, and any of them will make a man's heart glad.

With them we show a new line of dinner chimes, made of musical brass tubes, tuned in harmony. Your friend who is furnishing a new home will appreciate one of these, not only because they are quite the thing, but because they solve a difficult decorative problem.

Now, Just a Hint About White Ivory

The demand for this handsome Toilet ware has gained considerable headway at this date. Our extraordinary showing of every type of Ivory Toilet Article has attracted unusual attention, and we are selling dozens of pieces daily, that are intended for Christmas presents. The collection is complete now, and we have undoubtedly the largest showing of this ware ever brought to Fort Wayne. Since it is not considered complete without being engraved, it stands to reason that you should select your gifts right now and have them ready. If you wait until close to Christmas, your gift will probably be several days late because of the delay in engraving. No man can do the impossible—the engraver is no exception.

SIMPLICITY AND DIGNITY

but long before that hour the white house grounds assumed a holiday appearance. The passing of automobiles and carriages to and from the north portico told the gathering crowds outdoors that the bridal party—the ushers and attendant maids—had arrived and that all was in readiness for the unusual event—the giving in marriage of a daughter of the president of the United States.

Touch of Homeliness.

Notwithstanding its official brilliancy, there was a distinct touch of homeliness in the day's affair. The Rev. Sylvester W. Beach, pastor of the First Presbyterian church at Princeton, N. J., where Miss Wilson long taught a Sunday Bible class and where the Wilson family worshipped for a score of years, had been selected as the officiating clergyman. The maid of honor was the eldest daughter of the president, Miss Margaret Wilson. The bridesmaids were the bride's younger sister, Miss Eleanor Randolph Wilson, and Miss Mary G. White, of Baltimore; Miss Adeline Mitchell Scott, of Princeton, and Miss Marjorie Brown, of Atlanta, the last a relative, and the others chums of girlhood days.

The best man was Dr. Wilfred T. Grenfell, with whom Sayre spent many months ministering to the sick and needy on the rock-bound Labrador coast. The ushers were the groom's college mates—Benjamin B. Burton, of New York; Dr. DeWitt Scoville Clark, jr., of Salem, Mass.; Dr. Gilbert Horrax, of Montclair, N. J., and Charles Evans Hughes, jr., a son of the justice of the supreme court.

Known as White House Beauty.

The bride and groom—both blonde and of about the same height—she, known as the white house beauty because of her classic Grecian features, and he, a tall, lithe young man athletic in appearance with sharp features and a fair complexion—were busily occupied during the fore part of the day mingling in the bridal party, their relatives and house guests to whom alone the white house was accessible before the wedding hour.

The two young people who have lived the hardships of the poverty settlements in big cities and who have inquired into life's social and economic problems first hand, would have preferred a quiet wedding, limited to the family circle and close friends—such as it might have been had not the parents of the bride been elevated to the foremost social position in the gift of the nation. Reluctantly was it made an official affair. The diplomatic corps, it was realized, had never been omitted on any important social occasion at the white house, nor had the members of the cabinet and the supreme court. To Washington society today's was the supreme event of the season, yet the guests were hardly drawn from official life, but from the vast circle of friends of the two families throughout the land.

There were but 400 invitations issued—600 less than at the Roosevelt wedding seven years ago—but the Wilsons are newcomers in Washington, whereas the Roosevelt administratio was then five years old and officials and their wives had had a greater opportunity to establish intimate relations at the white house.

Who Were Invited.

Members of the cabinet and their wives and families, as well as the justices of the supreme court of the United States and their families, the ambassadors and ministers, representing kings and emperors throughout the civilized world; the vice president and Mrs. Marshall, the speaker of the house and Mrs. Champ Clark, Senator Kern and Representative Oscar Underwood, the democratic leaders, and Senator Gallinger and Representative Mann, the minority leaders of congress, and their wives—these were the persons invited because of their official position, though among them were many close friends of the Wilson family.

Senators and members of the house generally were not invited. If they had been, the east room could not have held them. It was the same arrangement as was carried out at the Roosevelt wedding; in fact, the preparations, decorations and general scheme of the day's program were along somewhat the same general lines.

The diplomatic corps appeared in uniform and the assembly was a brilliant one. For weeks that have preceded gowns and toilettes have been planned with minute care by the feminine guests for the ceremony of an hour.

Mapped Out to Final Detail.

The program had been mapped out to the final detail, the white house attaches fixing each part of it with the exactness characteristic of functions at the executive mansion.

High officials and relatives were to enter at the north front, but the guests generally were to come in at the east entrance through the glass conservatory decorated with ferns and palms and revealing through big windows the south grounds with the fountain and Italian pools, the hedges and shrubbery—the exquisite gardening of years.

From the conservatory to the main staircase leading up to the east room where, daily, hundreds of tourists are permitted to promenade, where the busts of celebrities and the tea chests and relics of traditional history are gathered—here was a staff of ushers to assist the guests with their wraps.

The east room as it was prepared for the wedding was a picture of grandeur. The three crystal chandeliers with their pseudo candle lights were to be but half illuminated, spreading a dim but suffused light over the gold trimmed walls with their cream colored pilasters, their huge vases and mantels of colored marble. The walls of the east room are covered with wood paneling, the ornamental ceiling is done in stucco and set in the walls are twelve low relief panels, their subjects from Aesop's fables. The window draperies of heavy yellow silk damask were hung loose today and the shades drawn. At the east end of the room facing the treasury building there is a series of four windows, broken by piers. It was in front of these windows on a dias banked with flowers that the wedding ceremony was performed.

The windows were draped with a large lambrequin of old gold plush with curtains on either side. Wherever there was a loop or wherever the overhanging borders of the lambrequin joined, there were large ropes of smilax and bunches of lilies. In front of these windows a platform approached by two semi-circular steps had been erected. The platform itself was covered with a rug, and immediately above the steps was a kneeling bench upholstered in white cloth, tied with white satin ribbons and filled out with bride roses and lilies. Behind this, with just enough space for the officiating clergyman to stand, was a mass of palms and smilax with a great bunch of lilies.

Everybody to Stand.

Everybody was to stand on the glistening floor, for there are no chairs in the east room except on rare occasions, as musicales. The so-called official guests, including members of the cabinet, the vice president and the speaker of the house and their families, the justices of the supreme court and the diplomatic corps and their ladies were to be grouped in the southern half of the room, while the guests generally were to stand in the northern half with the immediate families of the bride and groom in the aisle between, surrounding the dias after the bridal party had reached the floral bower and improvised altar. Two ropes wound in white satin marked the green carpeted aisle.

Looking down the main aisle from the dais, the green carpeting met the red rugs of the long corridor which bisects the lower floor of the white house leading from the state dining room to the east room and bordering the trio of parlors—the red room, the blue room and the green room. The United States Marine band grouped behind palms was to occupy a part of the great reception hall of marble floor and buff-tinted pilasters.

Forming Bridal Procession.

At exactly 4:30 o'clock the president and Mrs. Wilson were to descend the staircase from the family apartments, proceeding to the state dining room, where the bridal procession was to be formed. Mrs. Wilson and the members of the two families were to be escorted through the parlors to the southern end of the east room and finally to a place just in front of the dais. Mr. Sayre and the best man were to come in from the blue room, meeting the procession of bridesmaids and the bride at the foot of the dais.

From the western end of the long corridor at the state dining room, the bridal procession was to form. In the niches of the corridor, palms and tropical plants had been placed. Each of the bridesmaids, escorted by one of the ushers, was to march slowly into the east room to the strains of the famous Lohengrin wedding march, played by the Marine band. Last the bride was to enter, leaning on the arm of the president, and preceded by the maid of honor. The bride was to carry a bauquet of lilies of the valley, while the bridesmaids were to carry pink roses toned in with their pink dresses.

As the bride and her father reached the altar the president was to pause while the groom was to step forward and lead the bride up the low steps to the broad dais where the entire bridal party was to stand, the president and Mrs. Wilson standing at the base of the platform.

The Wedding Service.

The Rev. Mr. Beach read the wedding service from the Book of Common Prayer and immediately after the ceremony the bridal party proceeded to the blue room to receive the guests, with the president and Mrs. Wilson standing with the bride and groom. Then the bridal party entered the private dining room, where the table with its big cake was decorated with pink roses.

Refreshments for the guests were served in the state dining room. This room is lighted by silver chandeliers and eight silver electric sidelights. It is furnished with chairs of mahogany, upholstered in dark green tapestry. Three large mahogany console tables with large carved eagles for supports were used for serving.

Scene of Reception.

The blue room, the scene of the reception after the wedding, is historic for the many events that have taken place in it chief among which was the wedding of President Cleveland. Except for decorations here and there, the room is little changed since then. There is a mantel of pure white marble in it, the shelf being supported on bundles of arrows carved in the white marble with bronze tips and feathers; the wainscoating is in white enamel, the wall covering is of heavy, corded blue silk, on which is embroidered at top and bottom the Grecian fret. The curtain hangings are of the same blue material as the wall coverings and embroidered with stars. The curtain poles are surmounted by gilt eagles and the Grecian fret appears also in the ceiling. The furniture is in white and gold, upholstered in blue and gold. Blind doors have been cut in the walls near the southern end of the room and at the receptions guests pass through the three colored parlors.

The Honeymoon Trip.

Through the corridors hung with the pictures of presidents and their wives the wedding guests were to promenade after the reception, while the Marine band rendered selections, and by 6 o'clock the bride and groom expected to be speeding away on their honeymoon. Whether they will go by automobile or train is a secret. They intend to travel for about a month, getting into their new home at Williamstown, Mass., early in January. Washington society expects, however, to see them back for the New Year's reception at the white house, though the couple have not made known their plans to any one except the members of the family circle.

Executive avenue between the white house and the treasury department was jammed with carriages and automobiles of the guests, and it was here that the greatest crowd gathered. Lines of police were stationed along the east terraces and at the gates to move traffic smoothly.

WHITE HOUSE BRIDAL PARTY.

Similar Tastes Characterize Bride and Groom to Marked Degree.

Washington, Nov. 25.—Similar tastes, a devotion to the same ideals, and a desire to dictate their lives to work of Christian usefulness and social service is the characteristic quality of Miss Jessie Woodrow Wilson, daughter of the president, and Francis Bowes Sayre, who today were married at the white house.

Both have won laurels at college for their studies in political economy and sociological subjects, and each has worked among the poor in the settlements of the big cities, familiarizing themselves with life's problems.

A fondness for outdoor sports, a desire to spend more time in the work of social welfare and service rather than in the comforts of the drawing room, and an ambition to live simply and quietly and without ostentation, have developed a mutuality of interest in the young couple aside from their congeniality of disposition. They have known each other about two and a half years, during which time the two families have become intimate as well. The Sayre family is an old Pennsylvania institution with a collegiate and theological trend quite similar to the ancestry of Miss Wilson.

The Bride and Groom.

Sayre is a graduate of Williams college and Harvard law school. He has spent his vacations on the sheep ranches of Wyoming, hunting in the Rockies or exploring in Alaska. He counts among his thrilling adventures a hazardous trip across Bering strait in a fifteen-ton schooner, and has tramped the Canadian woods for days at a time, living the hardships of the forest. He has spent some of his summers on the Labrador coast with Dr. Wilfred T. Grenfell, who each year ministers to the sick and needy fishermen there. Dr. Grenfell was best man at the wedding today. The couple has selected a modest little house in Williamstown, Mass., where Sayre is to be assistant to the president of Williams college, Prof. Harry A. Garfield, a son of the martyred president, and once a member of the Princeton faculty.

Miss Wilson, the white house bride of today, was born in Gainesville, Ga., twenty-six years ago, being two years younger than her husband. But she has lived most of her life in Princeton, where her father was for twenty-seven years connected with Princeton university. After being educated by a German governess until the age of 12, she attended Princeton's schools and then specialized in political economy at Goucher college, Baltimore, where she graduated with a Phi Beta Kappa key, a symbol of high scholarship which Sayre also won at Williams.

Miss Wilson spent two years living four days a week in a settlement house in the Kensington mill district of Philadelphia. She shared the humble fare of the settlement restaurant and became affectionately devoted to her charges. She taught mothers' clubs, preaching industry, economy and household concerns. She was not seen often at the afternoon teas at the white house last spring, being away most of the time speaking in behalf of the Y. W. C. A., of whose national board she is an active member. She is an ardent believer in woman suffrage—the result of her observations of social problems. She has not taken a prominent part in advancing the cause, however, because of her father's official position, but she sympathizes heartily with the efforts of women to get the ballot as an instrument for the correction of the evils of child labor and the institution of other social reforms.

The Bridal Party.

The bridal party selected by both the bride and groom reflects in its personnel the intimate feeling of the couple for those who have been associated with them in their recreations and serious pursuits.

Dr. Wilfred T. Grenfell, the best man, has world-wide fame as a missionary physician in the bleak land of Labrador. His wife, who was among the guests at the white house today, was Miss Anna McClanahan, of Chicago, where their marriage took place with Francis Bowes Sayre, today's bridegroom, as an usher. Dr. Grenfell's second return from his humble home in an isolated land, to be best man at a white house wedding, adds another chapter to a career already full of unsual expereinces.

Dr. DeWitt Scoville Clark, jr., another member of the bridal party, is an old friend of Dr. Grenfell. He made two trips to Labrador and was Mr. Sayre's companion on their 100-mile trail across Newfoundland. He worked in the Grenfell hospitals while he was with the missionary.

Another usher, Dr. Gilbert Horrax, is a surgeon at the Peter Bent Brigham hospital in Boston. His friendship with Mr. Sayre dates back to their college days at Williams.

Benjamin Brown Burton, another of the ushers, is a New Yorker. He and Mr. Sayre were fraternity brothers at Williams. The college friendship made companions of the young men again on a shooting expedition to Alaska and Northwestern Canada.

Mr. Charles E. Hughes, jr., the last of the ushers, is a son of Associate Justice Charles E. Hughes, and was a classmate of Mr. Sayre at the Harvard law school.

Bride's Two Sisters.

The bride's two sisters, Margaret, the elder of the trio and thespian of the family, who was maid of honor in the ceremony today, and Eleanor, whose taste is for art study and painting, are very congenial companions. The going away of the bride breaks up a sisterly comradeship which Washingtonians have had many chances to observe.

The other bridal attendants were guests last spring at the white house. There is one bridesmaid from the south—Georgia the bride's native state, Miss Marjorie Brown, daughter of Col. E. T. Brown, of Atlanta, a cousin of Mrs. Wilson. She was bridesmaid lately in Atlanta at the marriage of Senator Hoke Smith's son and Miss Rawson.

The other bridal attendants represent school and play days in Princeton and college years in Baltimore. The first, Miss Adeline Mitchell Scott, is the daughter of the professor of geology at Princeton, William B. Scott. Miss Scott and the bride of today have been friends from childhood and have many tastes in common. Miss Mary George White, another bridesmaid, is the daughter of Mrs. Margaret White, of Baltimore. She was a college friend of Miss Wilson at Goucher college and has several times been entertained at the white house.

Rheumatism

A Home Cure Given by One Who Had It

In the spring of 1893 I was attacked by Muscular and Inflammatory rheumatism. I suffered as only those who have it know, for over three years. I tried remedy after remedy, and doctor after doctor, but such relief as I received was only temporary. Finally I found a remedy that cured me completely and it has never returned. I have given it to a number who were terribly afflicted and even bedridden with Rheumatism, and it effected a cure in every case.

I want every sufferer from any form of rheumatic trouble to try this marvelous healing power. Don't send a cent; simply mail your name and address and I will send it free to try. After you have used it and it has proven itself to be that long looked for means of curing your rheumatism, you may send the price of it, one dollar, but, understand, I do not want your money unless you are perfectly satisfied to send it. Isn't that fair? Why suffer any longer when positive relief is thus offered you free? Don't delay. Write today.

WALTER JOHNSON ESCAPED ERRORS

Had Eighty-Two Assists Without Bobble and Led League.

VETERAN SHOWS WELL

Fielding averages in the American league for the season of 1913 show that Walter Johnson hung up another new and most noteworthy mark by taking part in fifty-one games, handling eighty-one chances and escaping without an error.

Caldwell, of the Highlanders, played twenty-three games in faultless style but had only half as many opportunities to go wrong as the great Washington pitcher.

Although the champion Athletics led the league in fielding, "Stuffy" McInnes is the only player of the lot who made the head of the column in his position. This youth took part in 143 games, more than any first baseman on the Ban B. Johnson circuit, and he quit with an average of .992, which is only two points below the mark attained by Covington, a St. Louis recruit, who played in a dozen battles.

Del Gainor was right up among the leaders in his fielding this season and on paper his record looks mighty good as he handled 1,182 chances on first with fourteen bobbles, and his record was only ten points away from the perfect mark. Guy Tutweiler, who took part in fourteen games for the Tigers after he left Fort Wayne, had an average of .987.

Napoleon Lajoie, whose retirement was announced during the season, seems to have covered some ground around second base as he is the real leader in that department with an average of .970. Berger, of Chicago, and Turner, of Cleveland, both have better marks than the veteran, but neither played in near as many games.

The worst fielding in the league seems to have been done around third base as Hartzell, who played two dozen games for New York, had only .964 to show for it, while Terry Turner, the topnotcher among the men who covered the bag regularly, made .944 and Jack Barry, of the world's champions, hung up .919.

These records also show that there was a number of better fielding gardeners than Tyrus Raymond Cobb. The Georgia peach came through with a mark of .947, and the regular who attained the best mark was "Birdie" Cree, of the New York club, with .986. Tris Speaker covered more ground than any man in the game as shown by the fact that he had 374 chances in the outfield and his fielding average is .944.

In the matter of chances his next rival is Clyde Milan, of Washington, who had 295, but he took part in 154 games, while Speaker was in only 139. Ray Schalk caught 125 games for Chicago, Sweeney 113 for New York, and Agnew 104 for Washington, and these are the only backstops who took part in as many as a hundred games.

MARQUARD CAN'T BE TEMPTED.

Announces That He Will Stick to Organized Baseball.

Chicago, Nov. 25.—Rube Marquard will not mingle with the baseball holdouts next spring. The record breaking southpaw, holder of a string of nineteen straight big league victories, came out cold turkey yesterday following his arrival here to fill a week's engagement with his wife, Blossom Seeley Marquard, at the Palace Music hall, and announced that he would be ready to sign for another season under McGraw's colors.

Last spring the New York management was forced to trail the left-hander to the Pacific coast before he consented to O. K. the papers. Rube, who now portrays the role of a suffragette pitcher, does a song and dance and a bit of a monologue in nifty fashion, also announced that he had been approached by agents of the Federal league, but had turned the deaf ear upon the tempter.

BACHELORS WIN A GAME.

In the opening game yesterday the Bachelors won from the Precious Blood basket ball team by a score of 26 to 11. Line-ups:

Bachelors—Fry and Telly, forwards; Bauret, center; DeWald and Hayes, guards.

Precious Blood Juniors—Hueber and Craft, forwards; Kelly, center; Degitz and Craft, guards.

PLAY BEST BALL FROM 25 TO 30

Few Men Are Good After 35 in the Great National Game.

THE SAME IN GOLF

An earnest bystander, who says he has dabbled into sporting lore here and there, propounds a query.

He wants to know if the greater number of American athletic heroes are over 25 or under 25 years of age.

The age limit appears to depend in a good measure upon the game. In baseball's realm most of the high spots of battle are over 25, and the average is well beyond this age. Walter Johnson slipped by the 25 limit just ten days ago. Ty Cobb will be 27 in December and Eddie Collins 27 next May. Baker will be 27 in March. Mathewson is 38. Wager will be 40 on the 24th of February, and Plank will soon be 39. Tris Speaker is 30. So is Jimmy Archer. In fact, from all those who might be listed as all-American material for 1913, not one was below the 25 mark. Joe Wood, however, was only 24 in October, and he reached this crest a year ago—the crest of all-Americanship.

The average age for baseball stardom is around 30—and there will be more stars under 30 than beyond this mark. The most effective age—or the age of greatest effectiveness in handling America's leading sportive industry—is between 25 and 30, and those who are still stars beyond 35 are very few.

In golf and tennis the age boundary of stardom is much lower than in baseball. America's two greatest tennis players are McLoughlin and Williams. Neither is beyond 23. Yet Wilding, the great New Zealand star, is well over 30.

Golf youth rules in America more than in Europe. Frank Ouimet, open champion, is only about 20 or 21. Jerry Travers, amateur champion, is 26, but he won his first championship at 20. Jack McDermott, open champion in 1911 and 1912, is only about 23. But in England Hilton, amateur champion, is 40 or more, and J. H. Taylor, open champion, is about 42.

Youth seems to rule in America, where the bulk of tennis and golf champions are still this side of 25. Yet Travis, one of America's greatest golfers, was 35 before he ever saw a golf club, and Bill Larned, one of her greatest tennis exponents, was beyond 30 when still unbeatable. In any summing up it might be said that a contender around 27 or 28 years of age, between 25 and 30, to extend the limit, has the better chance to reach the top, as at that period he still carries the flame of passing youth and the experience and training of added years. But this rule doesn't carry in the case of such geniuses as McLoughlin, Ouimet, Travers and others who, in addition to physical ability, were born with the "winning knack."

BRICKLEY A WONDERFUL LAD.

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 25.—Charles Edward Brickley, Harvard full back extraordinary and drop kicker plenipotentiary, whose magic right foot kicked the Crimson into an eastern intercollege football championship last Saturday, is a "wonderful boy" in the estimation of his mother, Mrs. William J. Brickley, of Everett. The Brickley mater is no lover of football, however, and vows that her two younger sons will not take it up.

The peerless kicker was 22 years old today. Since he was nine years old football, and especially drop kicking, has offered the greatest kind of fascination for him. With four years' experience at Everett high school and one year at Exeter academy he came to Harvard three seasons ago. Brickley's advancement in drop kicking has since been rapid.

Strange as it may sound, prayer has figured greatly in Brickley's kicking. An hour after his great triumph in the Yale contest friends came upon him in St. Paul's Catholic church offering thanks for the victory.

WILL STAGE PRELIMINARY.

Junior Football Clubs Will Play a Game at League Park.

The Catholic high school and the West End Athletic association elevens will hook up Thursday afternoon at League park in a football match and the winner will claim the junior championship of the city. This game will be put on as a preliminary to the Friar-Corby hall event, which is the feature game of the local schedule.

GIRLS OF ST. CATHERINE'S ACADEMY BASKET BALL TEAM WHO WON THEIR FIRST GAME OF SEASON FROM THE HIGH SCHOOL.

These girls believe in publicity. They say that every time they win a game this season they are going to have their pictures in The Sentinel and have a standing engagement to be taken following every victory. Next time they promise a new pose and would have had something different the first time but for the fact that one of the young ladies forgot her bloomers and did not want to spoil the general effect.

Basket ball between the girls' teams this winter promises to take a prominent part in sports. In addition to the high school and St. Catherine's, Miss Ruth Melin, of the Y. W. C. A. physical culture classes, will probably put in a club and will be looking for some matches.

CORBY LOADS UP FOR THE FRIARS

Bronson Hall Cancels Game to Give Best Material to Corby.

TWENTY-TWO COMING

Corby hall has heard something of the play of the Fort Wayne Friar eleven and for that reason is loading up for the game here on Thanksgiving because it is considered a lasting disgrace for one of the university teams to fall before an independent club, and the Notre Dame students are taking no chances on the battle scheduled for this city.

Bronson hall has always been one of the hot contenders for the interhall championship at the university, and some of the most promising material in the college is included in the football team that represents it. Corby did not have to go outside its own ranks last year and the year before, but this season it is a different proposition and the pick of the two halls will fight under the Corby colors.

This plan is not objected to because the Friars want the strongest club they can get to insure an interesting game for Thanksgiving, which usually means the closing of the season. Coach Ward is drilling his men every night, and while he has a few bruises and sore spots in his line-up, he feels confident that he will be able to send a strong aggregation against the collegians.

The game will be started promptly at 1 o'clock and the preliminary game has been scheduled with that understanding. Twenty-two men will come with Notre Dame, and in the evening the Friar club will tender a banquet to the opposing club. This will be given at 6 o'clock in the evening at the Anthony hotel. Arrangements are being made for a concert by the Elks' band.

MACK SIGNS ANOTHER INDIAN.

Joe Graves Will Try Out With the Athletics Next Year.

Brainerd, Minn., Nov. 25.—Joe Graves, a Chippewa Indian of Walker, Minn., has signed with the Philadelphia Athletics for next season. During the last two or three seasons Graves has pitched sensational ball for Walker and Brainerd. He was a teammate of Leslie Bush and Albert Bender in several professional games before the two latter entered the big league.

SEEK A REFEREE FOR THE SEASON

St. Mary's Athletic Board is After Impartial Man for Place.

PREPARE FOR OPENING

Next to finding a suitable floor to put on the basket ball games for the season of 1913-14, members of the athletic board of St. Mary's Athletic club find the most difficult task confronting them in the matter of procuring a referee to take charge of play while the schedule for the winter is being run off.

If the board and players wanted any the best of it there would be no trouble, but neither is looking for any advantage of this kind and this necessitates getting a man not affiliated in any way with any city team, and one who thoroughly understands basket ball.

A fear that opposing clubs will charge partiality is the one element that is making the work hard. In all their years in athletics the club has tried to be eminently fair and it wants to maintain this high standard during the present season. Nobody is being considered and the board is all at sea in the matter, and if there is a fellow about this or any adjoining cities who thinks he can fill the bill he can get the job provided, of course, he can make good.

The manufacturer from whom the net was purchased that will enclose the playing floor at St. Mary's hall, has promised to deliver it by Dec. 1, and a few days will be necessary to get it in position and have it properly braced. Just as soon as the hall is ready the opening game will be announced and some program arranged for the occasion as the hall will be the permanent home for the team, and the club members want to celebrate the occasion of dedicating it.

Practice last night brought out the players of last season with the exception of Prof. Louis Pell. He looked on, but his time is so taken up with his Christmas music and his teaching duties that he cannot get in before the first of the year.

Andrew App and Gene Hoffman are the new candidates for places on the club which began practice last night. Both are regarded as good men, and they will probably make the club.

WANT SCHULZ TO HANDLE BADGERS

A SALARY DIFFERENCE

Madison, Wis., Nov. 25.—A move to have "Germany" Schultz engaged to coach the Badger line next season was officially launched last night by the Wisconsin Daily News. In an editorial inclined to be caustic, the publication points out how the Badger team was deprived of the services of the Michigan star this year by a matter of slight salary difference. The athletic department refused to comment upon the situation.

Badger football players who participated in Saturday's game at Chicago, with the exception of Lange and Gelein, who suffered aggravation to old injuries, came out of the final contest of the year without bruises and broke training.

Of the players who competed against Chicago, Ostle, Lange, Tormey, Tandberg, Butler, Martin, Powell, Alexander and possibly Bellows worked for the last time under the cardinal.

ROANOKE WANTS A GAME.

Roanoke wants a basket ball game for Friday night of this week and is after an engagement with some Fort Wayne amateur club. The game can be arranged by calling Smith's restaurant at Roanoke between 6 and 8 o'clock any evening.

REID LANDS ONE BLOW IN BATTLE

Fate of John Young Stared Him in the Face During Mill.

STEWART MADE SHOW

Aside from the occasion when he shook hands with Jess Willard at the opening of their fiasco at Princess ring last night, Jack Reid landed just once on the big Kansas battler and that was in the first round when he got close enough to tap his opponent in the ribs.

The balance of the time he was conjuring up in his mind the visions of big John Young, who took the final count after a battle with Tom Jones' hope, and he couldn't stand for it so when he took a rap in the ribs and another in the victualing department in the second round he sat down and concluded that was the safest place for him so he stayed down while Eddie Santry counted off the ten seconds that took away with them his right to resume the battle.

Then the Toledo false alarm took exceptions to the ruling of the referee and wanted to engage him in combat, but was "shooed" out of the ring by Chief of Police Abbott. Manager George Biemer was sorely disappointed in Reid, and just what he thinks of him would get the Summit City club magnate in jail if he should ever say it.

He made two or three trips to Toledo before he took him on, and thought he had a man who would go in and do the best he knew how instead of quitting on him. Jones and Willard have gone to Buffalo and will work east for the meeting with Carl Morris on Dec. 2.

Hal Stewart put on the whole show, aided and abetted by Jimmy McGovern. The latter was game to the core and stood before superior boxing just as long as he could but in the eighth round he went down and the match was stopped. He was applauded when he left the ring.

Stewart has improved wonderfully since his last appearance and he ought to be able to get on some good matches as a result of his showing against McGovern, who was touted as one of Chicago's fastest products.

Young Holzhauer, who had been out of the game for a long time, came back much stronger than his friends thought he could, and had no difficulty in disposing of Hendricks, who came here as Reid's sparring partner. He demonstrated that he can use that good left of his to advantage. In the third round he had so much the best of the encounter that Santry waved Hendricks out of the ring.

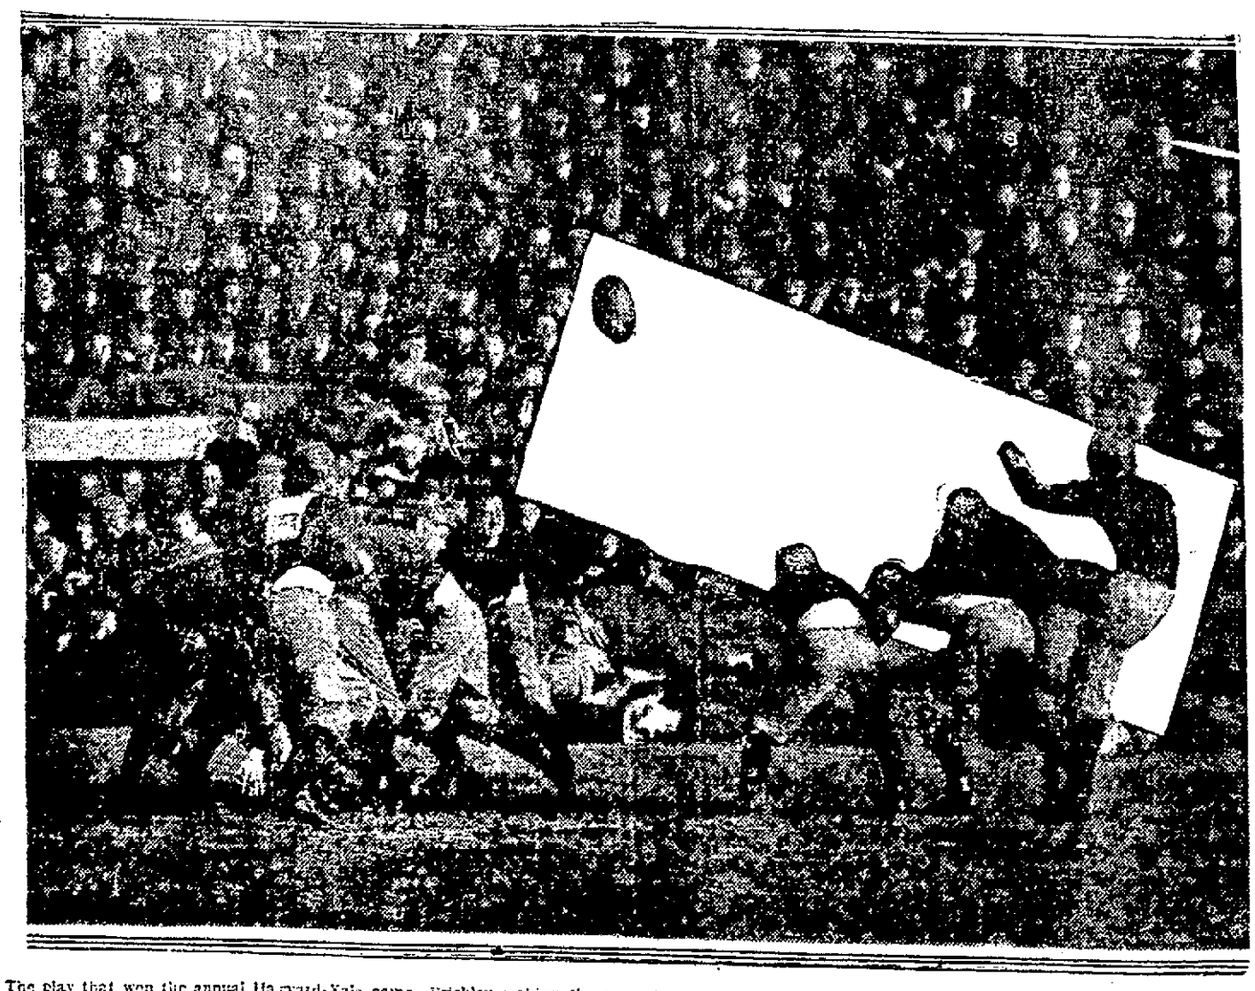
HAVE TWO GAMES BOOKED.

Tonight the Turner Juniors will play the Ossian basket ball team at Ossian, and on Saturday night will take on the Harlan club.

THE PLAY THAT WON THE ANNUAL HARVARD-YALE GAME SATURDAY.



The play that won the annual Harvard-Yale game—Brickley making the second of his five field goals against Yale, the first time any man has kicked five goals in a major gridiron struggle, and the second time the feat has been accomplished in the history of intercollegiate football. In 1899 Trafford, a famous Harvard back, kicked five goals against Cornell.

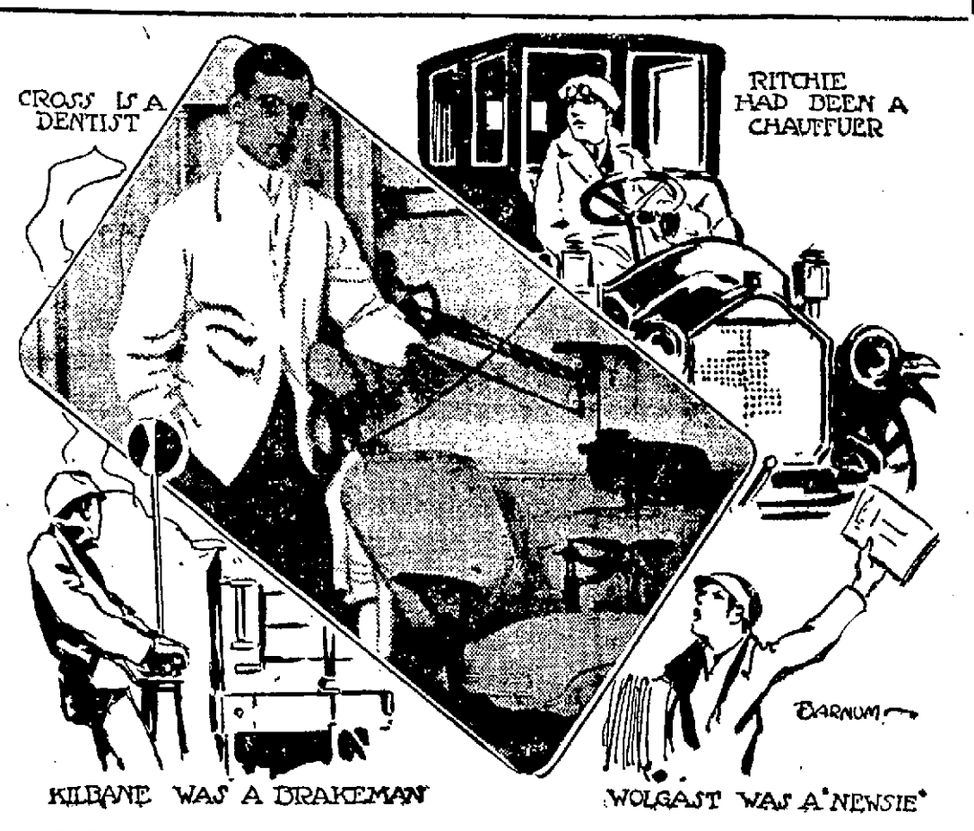
MEN WHO ARE EARNING BIG MONEY IN THE RING DIDN'T KNOW REAL COIN FEW YEARS AGO



PRETTY SOFT FOR THE FORMER CHAUFFEUR, RAILROADER, NEWSBOY AND THE DENTIST, PICKING UP THOUSANDS ANNUALLY AS FISTIC STARS.

Geary Steffen was a chauffuer a couple of years ago. Willie Ritchie, Steffen's nom de fight, made $25,000 in his last championship fight.

Ritchie knocked out Jose Rivera in eleven rounds—33 minutes of actual fighting. Purse and picture royalties netted him $750 a minute for every sixty seconds he fought.

For handing Leach Cross an artistic trimming before New York's partisan fans, Ritchie received $10,750—$358 a minute.

A peep into the past shows that the top notch boxers holding the stage today come from almost every walk in life, and some who demand $5,000 or $10,000 for fighting ten or twenty rounds did not know a few years ago there was so much money in the world.

Johnny Kilbane, featherweight champion, worked as a brakeman in a railway yards. Now his income vies with that of the same road's president. He owns his own home and collects rent from five others.

Johnny Coulon, bantam champion, worked as a piano tuner in a Cincinnati piano store, of which his father was manager.

Leach Cross, who fights every few weeks, and wants the lightweight crown, practiced dentistry in New York. Jack Dillon, who is camping on the middleweight trail, was an Indianapolis messenger boy.

Ad Wolgast, the man who defeated Bat Nelson for the title, and who earned enough in a short time to buy a few rich farms, sold newspapers and blacked shoes in Milwaukee.

Billy Papke, ex-middleweight champion, drove a milk wagon. George Chip was a miner and Joe Mandot delivered bread and cakes for his father, a New Orleans baker.

Gus Christie was a life guard at a beach near Milwaukee. Charles Ledoux, the French bantam, was a chef, and Jimmy Clabby a newsboy.

Art Pelkey, who killed Luther McCarthy, worked in New England woolen mills; Jess Willard was a cowboy; Gunboat Smith a naval seaman; Billy Griffith a metal polisher, and Frank Whitney a carpenter.

ALTHOUGH HARRY DAVIS' NAME DOESN'T SHOW IN BOX SCORE HE IS A POWERFUL FACTOR OF WORLD'S CHAMPION ATHLETICS.

It's hard to imagine Connie Mack, thrice winner of the world's baseball championship, following another manager's footsteps; about as hard as electing a republican dog catcher in Texas.

Connie Connie is usually out in front ring-tailing the field, but he isn't too allfired wise to learn, which is a reason why he develops world's champions. Other reasons are Collins, Baker, etc.

When Mack heard Comiskey had signed an assistant to the manager, his brain machine turning out baseball patterns clicked. The idea echoed like a winner, and Mack needed one, not having had a world's title for a whole year.

Harry Davis, who had been leading a hard life in Cleveland, was signed as assistant manager. And he made good. Just how good is more readily understood upon coming the Mackmen's record for the last four years:

In 1910-11, with Davis on first, the Athletics "busted" through the American league and then successfully downed the Cubs and Giants. The tag end of 1911 Davis was slowing up and "Stuffy" McInnes filled in at first. His hitting was better than Davis', but in the world's series Davis went to first, McInnes being allowed to retire the last man in the final game.

In 1912 Davis started to manage the Cleveland team, but stubbed his toe, an assist being awarded the Nap players on the play. The Mackmen slumped to third place.

Lack of harmony, breaking of training and other excuses were made for the team's failure. There certainly was dissension. Barry and Collins were at odds and there were others who thought their comrades were about as intelligent as a contested delegate.

Mack needed a harmonizer and signed Davis. Not to play, but to smooth the wrinkles. As a smoother Harry was a wonder. He proved as effective as the bludgeons of Baker, Collins and McInnes.

Barry and Collins were better than ever and their double killings proved the undoing of many an attack. Back of them was Davis.

To the casual spectator Davis is an ordinary coacher. Most of his work is done off field or at morning practice. He has uncanny ability to discover signs of weakening in a pitcher, and on his word the Mackmen start their irresistible attack.

Mack had as good a team in 1912 as in 1913 and the opposition was weaker. But he didn't have Harry Davis in 1912. The obvious answer is the assistant manager, even if you don't see his name in the box score.

ASSISTANT MANAGER DAVIS, OF THE WORLD'S CHAMPIONS.

LOST $1,000 BY A POINT.

Boston, Nov. 25.—Harry Hooper, right fielder of the Boston Americans, failed by a single point to attain a batting average last season which would have brought him an additional $1,000. When the official averages were published yesterday it was found that Hooper had made .289. In his contract it was provided that he would receive a bonus of $1,000 if he succeeded in making average of .290 or better.

PRESIDENT ENGAGES A BOX.

New York, Nov. 25.—Bracing weather has succeeded the Indian summer conditions which prevailed here last week, holding out prospects auspicious for the army-navy football game here next Saturday. The staging of this gridiron classic within the arena of the new baseball stadium at the Polo grounds will give it a more up-to-date setting than the game has ever had before, and from all indications will attract official Washington and society generally to an even greater extent than has been the rule. It is announced that practically every one of the 41,000 tickets have been taken and that the demand is still so great that the ordinary $3 seats are selling as high as $50 a pair, while boxes cannot be obtained at $100.

The list of box holders on the army side of the field was made public today. President Wilson has engaged his box on this side and it is understood a reservation of twenty-seven box seats has been made for his party, which will probably include the president's new son-in-law and his bride, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Sayre. This would probably be the first public appearance of the couple following the wedding festivities in Washington today.

CROWDS ATTEND FAIR.

Saxonia and Waffengenossen Programs This Evening.

Hundreds of people attended the Turner fair Monday evening and more than 150 persons received instructions in the proper manner in which to turn in a fire alarm. The fire alarm feature of the fair is proving to be one of the leading attractions. Last evening was designated as Stolzenau night, and this evening has been set aside as the Saxonia and Waffengenossen special.

Those in charge of the various booths last night were:

Vienna cafe—Mrs. Robert Stein, Mrs. Herman Leuschner, Mrs. William Ersig and Mrs. Fuelker.

Art goods—Mrs. John Yenni, Mrs. H. A. Wiese, Mrs. W. Felger, Mrs. F. Bauer, Mrs. F. B. Strodel and Mrs. F. Metsch.

Candy booths—Theodore Turschmann, Harry Micholfelder.

Toys—William Stenger.

Chinaware—Gustave Ludwig, Lina Wiese and Martha Lommatzsch.

Fish pond—Joseph Schmidt.

VIRGIL HENDERSON DIES.

BOXER BECOMES A MINISTER.

Kittaning, Pa., Nov. 25.—From pugilist to preacher in one year was the step made by Mark Beer, of Wickboro, who preached his first sermon in the Brethren in Christ church in Wickboro Sunday. A year ago Beer was an amateur boxer in towns in the Allegheny valley. He was successful and he finally went to New York. There he substituted for another in a bout and was beaten decisively. Disheartened he wandered about the streets until he visited a mission meeting. Beer was converted before the meeting closed. He returned home and began studying for the ministry.

WILL PLAY EASTERN TEAM.

Chicago, Nov. 25.—The University of Chicago, champions of the "Big Nine," probably will play an eastern team next season. This was intimated today by A. A. Stagg, athletic director, who announced that several "old friends" may be dropped from Chicago's football schedule next year. He did not name the eastern team which may be added.

CORNELL AT ATLANTIC CITY.

Atlantic City, N. J., Nov. 25.—The Cornell football squad arrived here today from Ithaca, and will remain until Thursday morning, when the players will leave for Philadelphia, where the varsity team will meet Pennsylvania for their annual game. The players found clear, bracing weather. Coach Sharpe planned to give the varsity and substitutes a long signal drill at Inlet park this afternoon.

These Great American Athletes Are Going After the Australian Cracks.

San Francisco, Nov. 21.—The All-America track and field team, consisting of four athletes, left here recently for a tour of New Zealand and Australia.

Parker, the sprinter of the team, is the best sprinter on the Pacific coast, having defeated all the champions here at the recent Portola celebration. Included in the men Parker beat are such cracks as Fred Kelly, who recently ran the hundred in 9 4-5; Ira Courtney, who competed at Stockholm, and Gates, of the Pastime club.

Parker ran his 220 at the Portola in even time, a remarkable performance on a curved track. He ran his 100 in the same meet in 10 1-10, showing his consistency. Last spring he equaled the Pacific association record with even time in the 100 yards and two months later went to Chicago and ran second in both 100 and 220.

Both these events were run in new world's interscholastic records and Parker was credited with even time in each. He is a wonderful sprinter and will make good on the grass tracks in the Antipodes.

Jim Power, of the Boston Athletic association, recently put a mile behind him in 4 minutes 18 4-5 seconds, taking two seconds off the coast record.

He is the present mile champion of both the United States and Canada, and will run various distances from 880 yards to two miles during the tour, and should establish a new Australian record for the mile.

Reginald Caughy, the Ukiah high school lad, is one of the best shot-putters in the country—the only man who ever defeated the late Ralph Rose. Caughy is good for forty-seven feet or better. A diminutive fellow, his shot-putting is remarkable because of his stature. He will juggle the weights on the tour.

NO MORE RACING THERE.

Montpelier, Ind., Nov. 25.—The Montpelier races, which were always looked forward to with much pleasure by the citizens of this and surrounding cities and country, are a thing of the past. The lumber in the fences, stables and grand stand are all advertised for sale, and it is understood that in the place of a racing track the grounds will be converted into a corn field next season. With the loss of the race park and the race meetings each year, Montpelier will lose one of its best boosters, for Montpelier races were always looked upon as being among the best in the state. The track, which was built and put in shape at a cost of about $3,000, is said by the horsemen who have raced here, to be the best half mile track in the state.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank ZurMuehlen and son, Richard, are going to Garrett to spend Thanksgiving and to attend the wedding of their cousin, Miss Frances Heinlen, to Herman Vonderbosch, which will take place at 9 o'clock at Sts. Paul's and Peter's church.

Mrs. A. R. Hamilton entertained the Monday bridge club at her home quite informally this week and was assisted during the evening by Miss Marie Telley. A visiting guest was Mrs. C. J. Fitzgibbons, of Chicago.

Among the home-coming students for Thanksgiving will be Miss Irene Miller and her brother, Jerome, from Notre Dame, and St. Mary's academy. They will spend the rest of the week with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Miller, of West Creighton avenue.

Wedding cards have been received by Fort Wayne friends, announcing the marriage of Miss Adele Fitzpatrick, of Boston, to Mr. Douglas Miller, of New York city. The bride is a sister of Frank R. Fitzpatrick, of this city, and has many friends and acquaintances here. The bride and groom have gone to the Thousand Islands to spend their honeymoon at Mr. Miller's summer home, Douglas Island.

Mrs. Kenneth Larwill, of West Creighton avenue, was the hostess for a meeting of the Bay View Reading circle yesterday afternoon. "England Story" was the subject of study. Reading by Mrs. Frank Rhoades and Mrs. Willard Smith were followed by a historical contest which was equally enjoyed. Members of the circle are Mesdames J. H. Aiken, L. H. Moore, Conrad Honeck, Frank Rhoades, Kenneth Larwill, J. D. Lewis, Herman Popp, Willard Smith, Herman Michael, Joseph P. Martin, John Capron and D. Werremeyer. Mrs. Martin was elected secretary yesterday in place of Mrs. Werremeyer, who resigned.

One of the pretty and recent parties took place on Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Glass, of 2805 South Calhoun street. Miss Ruth Glass and her thirteenth birthday anniversary was the particular cause of the gathering of friends, about twenty of her school friends and playmates. A birthday cake with pink candles was conspicuous on the table. Candles of rose shape and color, tiny pink baskets of candy and dainty place cards with a large bouquet of pink roses at Miss Ruth's table all contributed to the lovely appearance of the diningroom. When the dessert course of the supper was served the ice cream was found pink in color and heart-shaped. Miss Ruth received many beautiful remembrances of the day. During the supper Mrs. Glass was assisted by Miss Seaton and Miss Semler.

SACRED HEART ENTERTAINMENT.

Pupils of Academy Give Musicale in Honor of St. Cecilia.

The musical pupils of Sacred Heart academy entertained the school last Friday evening with a charming program in honor of Saint Cecilia, whose feast is celebrated on the twenty-second instant.

The beautiful vocal room was artistically decorated with ferns and other plants and a rosy light was shed over the young performers by the draped electric lights.

At the close of the entertainment Rev. J. A. Lynn made a few appropriate and striking remarks, reminding the pupils of how, like Saint Cecilia, they might exert a powerful and lasting influence for good.

The following program was rendered:

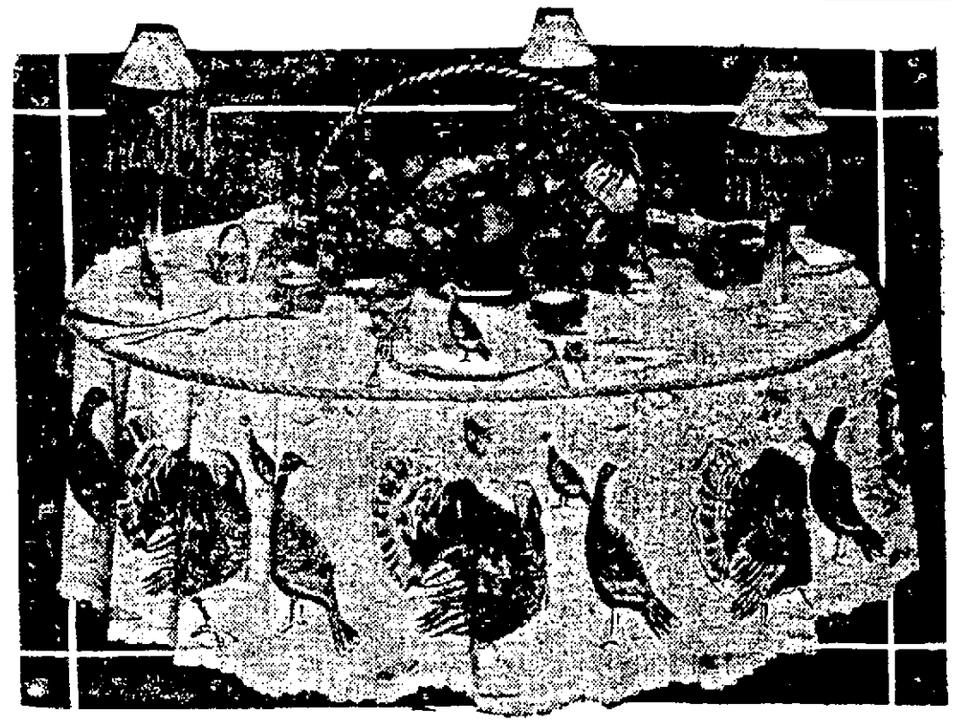
FOR A THANKSGIVING DAY FAMILY REUNION—HOW TO "FIX" THE TABLE TO HAVE LOTS OF FUN.



By Adele Mendel.

The celebration of Thanksgiving day seems to center around the dinner table. What a glorious sight it is on this purely American holiday to see the members of the family from far and near reunite on this occasion.

As the early celebrations were necessarily simple, it is more in keeping with the event to include in the menu dishes suggestive of those partaken of in olden times. If you have any old dishes, or pewter ware, use them on this day.

As the family group includes both old and young plan your entertainments so as to be equally enjoyable for all ages. If cost is a consideration, you can make your table appear very attractive by keeping in mind the old-fashioned simplicity of bygone days.

The table pictured would be very appropriate for an "only family" reunion. A flounce of decorative crepe paper showing a country scene with his majesty, the turkey, strutting about, is attached to the table cover by means of a rope of twisted paper in autumn coloring of red and yellow. The fruit basket in the center of the table is a distinctive feature. Seasonable vegetables may also be combined with the fruit with very good effect.

If you do not possess an artistic basket, you can make quaint shaped ones by covering matboard with twisted green or brown rope crepe paper and pasting one row after another to the basket shape.

The candle shades are covered in grape designed crepe paper with a fringe of green fringed paper. The little ice cups can be made similar to the big basket and are trimmed with small clusters of grapes.

Artificial bon-bon cups are similar in design to the ice cups, with small gobblers pasted on the sides. The turkeys which ornament the place cards can be painted on cardboard or cut out of a paper napkin and mounted on the cardboard. If you secure baby pictures of your guests they could find their places in that manner.

A vegetable beastie for each place is easily made. Carrots, radishes, potatoes or any vegetable may be used. You can make the legs of matches and the eyes of beads. Around the neck tie a cord with a merry gingle written on it expressing a sentiment why you are thankful that each guest is present.

Raisin men with marshmallow hats and cloves for feet are also cunning.

If you are planning games for after the feast, much sport can be derived out of old-time amusements of Thanksgiving character. An old-fashioned taffy pull would give pleasure to those of different ages. Or have a contest to see who can string the longest chain of cranberries within a stated time.

Another clever way to decorate a table is to have a centerpiece of wheat standing in the center of the table. Around the wheat could be scattered grains of corn and little papier mache turkeys could be placed as if they were eating the corn.

Spinning wheels cut out of cardboard could be at each place. Names should be written in old English.

As the Indians figured so conspicuously in the early Thanksgiving days, how would it be to have the waitress dressed as an Indian squaw?

The Music of the Pavlowa Performance

As former conductor of the London Classical Symphony orchestra and as one-time assistant to Mahler, Theodore Stier, who will hold the baton over the orchestra at the Pavlowa performance at the Majestic Saturday, Dec. 6, has a very fine reputation. As a conductor of ballet music he is the most able of the generation by common consent of the authorities.

Viewed as a musical evening alone, without the inspiring art of the inimitable Mlle. Anna and her many Muscovites, it would well be worth the while of music lovers to go to.

The program includes a piquant, rather unusual array of composers.

As for those who are not music lovers—it is dance music of well defined rhythm that is to be played, and dance music appeals to the popular ear quite as much as to the most highly trained. Russians, of course, predominate among the composers to whose works Mlle. Thistledown and all the rest float across the stage. The composers include Drigo, Weber, Meyer-Helmund, Minkus, Delibes, Dvorak, Linke, Schubert, Liszt and Glazounow, Rimski, Korsakoff, Shoff and Monsorgsky.

It is folk element that makes Russian music so widely popular. And because of this folk element it is not Russian music at all, but universal music, for people all over the world have the same fundamental instincts and emotions, and Russian music stirs these fundamental emotions.

AT THE EMPRESS

Thomas and James Kiernan and Victoria Walters in their Shakespearean travesty entitled "Macbeth" are among the most entertaining laugh-producers on this week's bill at the Empress theater. Most of us know Macbeth and the chances are that a majority of Empress patrons have witnessed the famous Shakespeare production, but the chances are that never before has "Macbeth" been played as it is being played at the Empress this week. Victoria Walters as Mrs. Macbeth is a scream and Thomas Kiernan as Macbeth is a roar and we will have to hand it to the other Kiernan who makes a hit as Max-Bluff. He and Richard Watson, as the man in waiting, get off some comedy that is far-reaching. As a whole, the act is one of the biggest laugh-producers that has appeared here this season.

Joe Maxwell's dancing girls offer four song and dance numbers. The girls have new steps that are difficult to execute and their act is of added attractiveness because of the beautiful stage setting, a different scene being presented for each song and dance number. The offering is pleasing Empress enthusiasts.

Alex. Korae is a pianist of ability and makes good his title as the little Paderewski and Hazel Berke has a voice of great range. These two entertainers give a program of varied selections by the great masters and at each performance they are compelled to respond many times to appreciative applause. Fred Warren and Al Blanchard are also singers who sing and comedians who "comede," so to speak, and as blackface comedians they make a hit.

Did you ever hear a Chinaman speak French or German. Did you ever hear a native of the orient sing a baritone solo, or did you ever hear ragtime in Chinese? If you go to the Empress this week you will hear all of these strange things. Lee Tung Fing is appearing three times daily in a varied program of song and his act is both educational and entertaining.

Patrick, Francisco and Warren, "The Athletic Rubes," open the bill this week in a gymnastic exhibition entitled "Fun Down on the Farm."

Matinee Dance Thursday. Trier's, Minuet, 2-5 p. m.

AT THE TEMPLE

It may seem a case of exaggeration to continue to remark that the Temple show is again the "best ever," but when every act is applauded and applauded by big audiences the conclusion is natural. Of course, the bill is the best. By the way, the matinee audience was so big yesterday that it was like a basket of apples filled so full it runs over. That was it exactly; so full the theater ran over—with people, of course, not apples.

The big Menlo Moore act, "Fair Co-eds," is remarkable for pretty girls, beautiful costumes in fine taste, and elaborate and unusual scenic effects. It is by far the best Menlo Moore act seen this season and stands in a class by itself for having no weak spots and consequently nothing less than pretty music, good singing and similar points that are fetching. The scenery is par excellence.

However, the bill is not a one-act show. It opens with the Deonzo Brothers, late of Primrose & Dockstader's minstrels. Their acrobatic work is wonderful, and of course, includes some comedy. Charles and Madeline Dunbar have an original act that bring howls of laughter from the audience and considerable wonderment as well. All one needs to do is shut his eyes and listen to Mr. Dunbar, and the listener is back on the farm just about feeding time in the morning. All the animals are there and hungry. Exceedingly clever as an imitator is Mr. Dunbar, and Miss Dunbar casts a pretty sidelight worth watching.

Harry Brooks and company present an interesting playlet, "The Old Minstrel Man." It has the heart interest always so applauded and the "villain" gets his due, also applauded. But the acting is and Mr. Brooks' character role is finished.

Billy Chase is a topical songster. He's as breezy as Eva Tanguay Ford and if he catches his breath it can't be noticed.

Bogart and Nelson have a splendid act. Its awful funny and is presented in their inimitable style. It's worth a trip to the Temple to hear Miss Nelson laugh.

ROYAL Baking Powder Absolutely Pure

There is a remarkable interest in Home Baking and Cooking throughout the land.

This is a most encouraging indication that the battle against impure, improper food is going to be won.

The credit for the victory will belong to the women of the country.

Home cooking has the backing of science and the approval of fashion. It adds to housekeeping a pride; to our food, healthfulness.

It is acknowledged by experts, and by the women who know, that the best cooking in the world to-day is with the aid of Royal Baking Powder.

A Thanksgiving Dinner Even Without Turkey is Good.

(By Caroline Coe.)

For those who wish a real Thanksgiving dinner and who want something cheaper than a turkey, there is one dish that was on the Thanksgiving table of our Puritan ancestors, that has gone completely out of fashion with their descendants, and it makes a most delicious and appetizing dinner. Our forefathers called it a chicken boiled dinner. It is made of a chicken cut up in portions as for fricasse and boiled. Into the broth, before the chicken is ready for the table, put potatoes, turnips, carrots, parsnips and onions. Serve as you do a corned beef boiled dinner.

This is a very delicious dish, especially if, after you have taken up the chicken and vegetables, you make some dumplings after the following recipe to serve with it:

Egg Dumplings.

Break one egg in a bowl and beat until yolk and whites are well blended. Add a saltspoon of salt and flour enough to make a stiff batter. Add one heaping teaspoon of baking powder. Beat thoroughly and drop from teaspoon into boiling stock or water. Will be cooked in ten minutes. Serve at once.

To this add this pudding and you are eating a dinner that was often served on Thanksgiving day in many a Puritan household 150 years ago.

Baked Indian Pudding.

Scald one quart of milk. When partly cooked add slowly one cup of cornmeal and one even teaspoon of salt. Stir into this two eggs beaten well. Add one tablespon of flour, one cup of molasses and a little ginger may be added. Butter the pudding dish. Turn mixture into it and put one cup of milk and a few bits of butter on top. Bake slowly three hours.

Vegetables.

Use boiled onions, mashed yellow turnip, succotash—(our grandmothers used dried sweet corn and navy beans for this)—mashed potatoes and baked or boiled squash.

At the first Thanksgiving dinner the only vegetables beside potatoes were corn and beans cooked together.

Later at Governor Winthrop's dinner in 1631 yellow turnip and onions were added.

Don't try any of the modern vegetables used in this country, as asparagus, tomatoes, celery, artichokes, or alligator pears, if you wish to keep to the old traditions.

Jams and blackberries or other wild fruits and pickled cucumbers, cabbage and walnuts were all on the old-fashioned tables a hundred years ago.

Cranberry Sauce.

I do not know just when cranberry sauce began to be considered indispensible to turkey. In my great-grandmother's cook book there is nothing said about it, but my grandmother was very particular about cooking the beautiful red berry. Iron or tin was not permitted to come in contact with grandmother's cranberries. The cooking was short ((if long, the skins become tough and seeds bitter). If she wished her cranberry sauce to jelly, a syrup was made of twice as much sugar as water and a pound of berries was used for every pound of sugar. After the syrup had boiled five minutes the berries were put in, and when they began to boil they were pressed down under the syrup with a spoon. As soon as every berry had burst the sauce was turned into earthen molds and chilled.

JUDGE EGGEMAN GRILLS A FATHER

Howard Swain, Who Neglects Six Children Promised Penitentiary.

NEWS OF THE COURTS

Judge John W. Eggeman in the circuit court today delivered one of the hottest grillings to Howard Swain that any prisoner at that bar ever received. Swain was tried and found guilty of neglecting his little children, ranging in age from 17 months to 11 years. Judge Eggeman, in announcing judgment, denounced Swain in terms of terrible severity and the wretch quailed under the fire of the court's righteous wrath. The case is an aggravated one and Judge Eggeman is thoroughly familiar with all the circumstances, having long ago persuaded the mother to turn over to him four of the children for proper care at the county orphans' home. The other two Mrs. Swain has cared for the best she could from her earnings, while her husband, who makes good wages, has done nothing for his family. Judge Eggeman deferred sentence until Friday, when Swain, if he do not meanwhile procure bond to support his family, will be sent to Michigan City.

Wife Resents Accusations.

Bertha Lindsey has filed a suit for divorce in the superior court asking to be freed from Frank Lindsey and given the custody of two children aged 13 and 15. She says he calls her vile and filthy names, curses at her, strikes and beats her and falsely accuses her of association with other men. Also she alleges a failure to properly provide her with clothing and food.

Husband Would Be Free.

Robert L. Schearer has obtained from the superior court an order to restrain his wife, Stella Schearer, from visiting the home of Oliver Clark to see the child of which she is the mother. The husband has commenced a divorce suit in which the wife is charged with infidelity and he demands the custody of the child, which he says the mother is an unfit person to have aught to do with.

Notes of the Courts.

The Royal Brewing company sues the Independent Cooperage company for $375 in the circuit court on a contract.

In the superior court Cyntha A. Waikel has sued Samuel Clark for $500 on account, the sum alleged due being a board bill of about two years' standing.

John Slifer has begun suit in the superior court against Weil Brothers for $387.50 to recover that sum advanced in payment for a team of horses. He says the defendants represented the horses as in all ways sound and they did not prove so.

The Hoagland Lumber company, of Hoagland, this county, has sued the Grand Rapids & Indiana railroad in the superior court for $500 damages to personal property of the plaintiff. The suit is an echo of the March floods, when the Houck ditch, near which the plaintiff's plant is situated, overflowed and flooded a lumber yard and elevator cellar. The plaintiff alleges the flow of water was obstructed by an insufficient culvert constructed under its track by the defendant.

The last will of Mrs. Mary J. Hughes has been ordered probated. The instrument leaves her property to her son, James E. Hughes.

The superior court has given Charles Williams judgment for $200 against Adam Brown, et al., according to a finding of a jury.

Jess Hill, who had a hand in the robbery of an old man in Monroeville, several weeks ago, was today sentenced in the circuit court to pay $25 fine and serve thirty days in jail.

George H. McKenzie has been granted a divorce by the circuit court from Laura B. McKenzie.

The divorce of William J. Rolles vs. Eleanor Rolles has been dismissed from the superior court.

The will of the late C. H. F. Roesener has been ordered probated by the circuit court. He leaves all his property to his widow during her life.

HELD AS SMUGGLER.

Wealthy Chinaman Accused as Leader of Band Along Border.

New York, Nov. 25.—Harry White, a wealthy Chinaman, said to be a leader of a band of smugglers that has operated long on the Canadian border, was arrested here today. Chinese Inspector A. B. Wiley said that White has brought more than 400 Chinese across the Canadian line and grown rich in this trade.

CAMERA MAN LOSES BOTH HIS BET AND HIS LIFE.

Decatur, Ill., Nov. 25.—That he had drank a mixture of photographic chemicals on a bet to show that they would do him no injury was the finding of the coroner's jury at Mattoon today in the case of Orla Cutright, a photographer, who died suddenly of convulsions.

ARCH FOR COOMBS STREET BRIDGE

Board of Works Takes Option on Land to Provide Another Span.

THE MUNICIPAL NEWS

The board of public works has taken options on two full lots and three fractional lots to provide land for the accommodation of an additional arch to the Coombs street bridge and for a longer and higher approach to that causeway. Since the great floods of last March, when the lowland to the south of the bridge was a veritable sea, it has been recognized that the bridge would need an additional arch to the south and a higher and longer approach. The board has made provision for these improvements in the options just taken. The land will cost $750.

BOARD WANTS OVER $7,000.

Money Needed for the Street Intersection Account.

Comptroller Cutshall will send to the city council tonight an ordinance appropriating $7,279.81 to the street intersection account to provide for deficiencies in that fund. The board of works needs the money to pay the city's share of late paving improvements and to pay for the paving of Forest Park boulevard and the laying of sidewalks on Broadway along the McCulloch park frontage. When the board, late in the summer, projected its supplementary paving program the comptroller assured the board that $10,000 was available if needed for street intersections. The money has been kept in the general fund until now, when it is needed.

COUNCIL MEETS TONIGHT.

Appropriation Ordinance for Cleaning Rivers Likely to Pass.

The city council will meet tonight and among other ordinances likely to pass will be that appropriating $700 for the use of the board of works in cleaning the rivers and removing obstructions likely to aggravate perils in case of high water. The council committee on finance at a meeting last night decided to report the ordinance favorably.

A resolution by Councilman Bauer will be introduced declaring it the sense of the council that the mayor should set aside two days during the next two weeks and by proclamation invite Fort Wayne citizens to volunteer their services for cleaning the rivers.

An ordinance prepared by the board of safety will be introduced ordering the Lake Erie and Western railroad to install safety gates at the West Main street grade crossing and to keep them manned twenty-four hours of each day. That crossing is now watched on from 6 a. m. until 9 p. m.

An ordinance fixing the salary of the city electrician at $1,500 will be presented.

The finance committee will favorably report on the following ordinances: Appropriating $5,220 to the fire force payroll for meeting salary increases; $367.50 to the street maintenance account; $250 to the police station account and $1,500 to the street cleaning account.

TOLAN REWEIGHS POULTRY.

City Sealer Oversees Weighing on the City Market.

City Sealer C. B. Tolan put in a busy morning on the city market seeing to it that buyers of poultry got a square deal. In all cases where he was requested to do so he reweighed purchases for buyers. In one case he found that a turkey sold as a ten-pound Thanksgiving bird tipped the scale at eight and one-half pounds. Investigation showed that the vendor's scale weighed a pound and a half short in ten and the instrument was confiscated. In another instance Sealer Tolan found that a market woman's scale weighed a pound short in every ten, thus cheating the seller. This scale was also seized for the benefit of the woman who owned it, and she did not offer any objection. The sealer did not find many instances of buyers being short-geighted on poultry.

Because Thursday will be Thanksgiving there will be a city market tomorrow.

CRESCENT MATTER SETTLED.

Pavement Controversy Peters Out and Hubbub Is Over.

The controversy over the quality of the pavement being laid on Crescent avenue has ended. Starting with something of a roar, it has terminated with mildness. The Grace Construction company has acquiesced in the demand of objectors for an additional year to the five-year guarantee originally given and the work will be completed probably without further dispute.

A conference was held last night in the board of works office between some of those who remain of the objecting property owners and the board. The committee of the objectors were accompanied by their attorney, William S. O'Rourke.

BIRTH RECORD.

To Mr. and Mrs. George M. Shiffer, 2003 Crescent avenue—twins, boy and girl.

To Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lassen, 1203 Park avenue—a boy.

DEPUTY WILLETT WAS HERE.

Chief Deputy Inspector of Weights and Measures John T. Willett, of Indianapolis, was in the city for a short time yesterday and called on City Sealer C. B. Tolan. Deputy Willett has not yet given up hope that a county sealer will be appointed for Allen county.

NO REPORT ON OSAGE STREET.

The council committee on streets and alleys will not report the ordinance for the separation of grades at Osage street and the Nickel Plate and Lake Erie railroads tonight. It has not yet had a conference with the board of works and the matter will go over until next meeting.

BUILDING PERMITS.

Henry Mesing, 1331-3 Clara street, two-story frame dwelling, $3,000.

SAYS HE HATES HIM LIKE SNAKE

But Mayor Shank Finds It Hard to Fill "Bill" Davis' Place.

MANY DECLINE OFFER

Indianapolis, Nov. 25. Mayor Shank is having difficulty filling the place of the board of safety made vacant by the resignation of William E. Davis. Mr. Davis resigned yesterday at the same time Martin J. Hyland handed in his resignation as superintendent of police, when the board voted to exonerate the thirty-one policemen charged with insubordination because they refused to ride on street cars during the recent street car strike here.

The mayor, in a speech to the patrolmen at roll call this morning, blamed Davis for all of his troubles. "I am glad Bill Davis resigned," said the mayor. "I hate him like a snake. It was all very well to sit in an office and draw $100 a month when all was lovely, but when trouble came and he was needed, he quit. He is a bigger coward than any man in the department."

Shank reiterated his statement of yesterday that he did not want the men to ride on cars during the street car strike or on wagons that will be involved in the teamsters' strike and was cheered by the patrolmen. The mayor has offered the position on the board to several prominent citizens, but so far has been unable to fill the vacancy. It is believed that the mayor's statement regarding the duties of the patrolmen during strikes has kept some of the appointees from accepting.

Capt. George V. Coffin, who was appointed yesterday as acting superintendent of police, took charge of the department today. He made a number of changes in the stationing of the patrolmen in the downtown district.

All grocery stores will be open Wednesday evening and closed all day Thanksgiving day.

LEAPS FROM TRAIN TO DEATH.

Unknown Passenger Plunges Into Bay as Train Nears New York.

New York, Nov. 25.—A well dressed man, presumably a Philadelphian, plunged into New York bay from a Central railroad of New Jersey passenger train today when it stopped on a trestle while entering New York. As he struck the water the man began to swim toward the Staten Island shore. Boatmen set out after him but he disappeared and was doubtless drowned.

END INDIGESTION, DYSPEPSIA, GAS, SOUR STOMACH—PAPE'S DIAPEPSIN

Time it! In five minutes your upset stomach will feel fine.

You don't want a slow remedy when your stomach is bad—or an uncertain one—or a harmful one—your stomach is too valuable; you mustn't injure it with drastic drugs.

Pape's Diapepsin is noted for its speed in giving relief; its harmlessness; its certain unfailing action in regulating sic, sour, gassy stomachs. Its millions of cures in indigestion, dyspepsia, gastritis and other stomach trouble has made it famous the world over.

Keep this perfect stomach doctor in your home—keep it handy—get a large fifty-cent case from any drug store, and then if anyone should eat something which doesn't agree with them; if what they eat lays like lead, ferments and sours and forms gas; causes headache, dizziness and nausea; eructations of acid and undigested food—remember as soon as Pape's Diapepsin comes in contact with the stomach, all such distress vanishes. Its promptness, certainty and ease in overcoming the worst stomach disorders is a revelation to those who try it.—Adv.

SHOP AND RAILROAD NEWS

WABASH STRIKE IS SETTLED

Shop Management and the Strikers Agree After a Short Conference.

INTERESTING STAY BOLT TESTS

Pennsy Boiler Inspectors from Various Points Take Part in Work.

News of the strike at the new shops of the Wabash at Decatur yesterday created considerable excitement among the shopmen in this city, because some eighty or more of their former comrades were affected by it. It was soon followed by dispatches last night that at 6 o'clock the Decatur shop management and the representatives of the striking machinists and boilermakers had a conference and settled their differences. This morning it was learned that all the strikers resumed work and no further trouble is apprehended.

TWENTY YEARS AT HELM.

Captain Stoll Rounding Out First Score With Pennsy Police.

Captain Henry C. Stoll will tomorrow round out the first score years of his connection with the Pennsylvania police department and congratulations have already begun to pour in upon him. A biographical sketch of Captain Stoll would virtually be a history of the police department of the Western division of the Pennsylvania, for he is the father of it. When the Pennsylvania management decided to establish a detective or special officer department and Supt. C. D. Law was asked to recommend a man, the choice fell upon Captain Stoll, then a member of the city police department. Captain Stoll began service as a detective November 27, 1893, and for over a year was the entire force. Then the organization of the present system was taken up and Captain Stoll selected all the men enrolled on the force on the Western division and many who were assigned "beats" on other divisions. In November, 1896, he was appointed lieutenant and a year later captain, an office he has filled since with credit to himself and profit to the company and its thousands of patrons. Captain Stoll not only attained distinction as a most efficient head of a police department, but as the tutor who gave men who have attained prominence in municipal and railway police circles their first lessons. The list is a long one and includes such well known police officers as Chief of Police Dayton F. Abbott, Seymour Harrod, George P. Coling, W. T. Angel, F. C. Herr, Edward Distel, W. M. Somers, W. E. Redmond, G. C. Baker and F. M. Butcher. Before going to the city police force Captain Stoll served three years in the city fire department and was considered one of the best. Later he was a deputy sheriff under George Viberg.

GOING HOME FOR CHRISTMAS.

In Wisconsin and Minnesota are thousands of Swedes, Germans and Norwegians wso came to America and purchased land in those states when it was only a few dollars per acre and by industry and economy have amassed small fortunes. These people have relatives in the old country and they go there to spend the holidays at least once in every five or six years. The movement in that direction has commenced. Next Thursday the Nickel Plate will have a special train filled with them. The party is due to sail from New York on the White Star line steamer, Asiatic, next Saturday afternoon. There will be over 200 people in the party, all coming from the farming districts of Minnesota and Wisconsin, and they will return to America in February or March, bringing relatives with them.

TWO CLAIMANTS TO PROPERTY.

Lafayette has the distinction of two parties seeking the privilege of paying taxes upon the same piece of land and the tax collector is puzzled to know from which to take the money. The claimants to the property are the Lake Erie and Western company and Charles Brothers, neither of whom is using the ground for any purpose.

DAVE MILLER DEAD.

David Miller, the aged man struck by a Pennsylvania train at Van Wert yesterday morning, mentioned by The Sentinel last evening, died at 6 o'clock last night at the hospital, where he was taken immediately after the accident. Miller was standing on one track waiting for a train to pass and failed to notice that a train was approaching him on the track on which he stood. He was eighty-one years old.

GREAT TOE CRUSHED.

T. C. Wiehe, a truck repairman at the Pennsylvania round house, suffered a crushed toe yesterday, when a heavy casting fell upon one of his feet. He was attended by the company's surgeon and then sent to his home.

GOING TO FATHER'S BEDSIDE.

Fred Baden left today for New York, from whence he will sail Saturday for Germany. His father, who lives in that country, is quite sick and requested Fred to come home. Fred Baden has been in America a little over a year, the greater portion of the time being employed as a stationary fireman at the Bass works. He resigned his position with the understanding that upon his return the company will again give him employment.

INSPECTING STAY BOLTS.

Boilermaker Experts Make Interesting Experiments.

Boilermaker experts and inspectors from all of the shops on the Pennsylvania Northwest system were in Fort Wayne yesterday, taking part in a series of efficient stay bolt tests in the local shops, which were directed by General Foreman B. F. Sarver, assisted by M. F. Kramer. In the party were William Smith, of Conley, Pa.; B. J. Martin, of Mahoningtown; G. W. Cross, of Allegheny; F. Culbertson and J. Corkill, of Cleveland; R. Heller, of Youngstown, Ohio; H. Leppert, of Crestline; H. G. McConnell, of Ashtabula; E. Stone, Alliance; G. W. Denious and T. R. Moore, of Wellsville; S. Naley, of Mansfield, and J. A. Reidt, C. H. Guenther and A. B. Crill, of Fort Wayne.

CHRIS DELL IMPROVING.

Christian Dell, the Pennsylvania employe injured at the store house elevator yesterday morning, will soon be around as usual. A telephone inquiry at the hospital this afternoon brought the information that Dell was not badly hurt. No bones were broken and the bruises on his shoulders and head were not serious.

DROPPED BACK TO FIRING.

Until freight traffic increases to warrant the reinstatement, Engineers L. Koch, R. M. Dignan, T. J. Ahern and C. J. McDaniel, of the Grand Rapids and Indiana road, will fire on passenger engines. Freight and passenger traffic on the road usually drops off at this season of the year and the present is no worse than former years.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

Pennsylvania Yard Engineer L. P. Galvan is sick and off duty.

Gang Foreman O. F. Opatz, of the Pennsylvania round house, is sick and off duty.

Michael Kochl, who was sick a week, resumed work at the Pennsylvania shops this morning.

Machinist D. S. McKendry, sick a week, resumed work at the Pennsylvania erecting shop this morning.

Yard Fireman J. M. Reinhart, who had been off duty two weeks, resumed work on the Pennsylvania this morning.

Mrs. Henry Hohman, wife of the Pennsylvania machinist, went to Detroit this morning to see her sister, who is very sick.

H. G. Niezer, of the Pennsylvania storehouse, was summoned home this morning by news of the illness of his wife.

J. Thompson, who had his eyes injured by iron rust last week, resumed work in the Pennsylvania erecting shop this morning.

Owen Barry and his gang of steam hammer operators at the Pennsylvania, are off duty pending repairs to the hammer and furnace.

Rheinhart J. Stetter, car service clerk at the Nickel Plate freight office, has resumed that duty after spending a vacation in the east.

Engineer Emil Jamey and Fireman H. C. Coggshell, of the Pennsylvania, have resumed duty after being away on a hunting expedition.

J. Moore, George Schmidt, Nicholas Shaw, J. F. Seip, O. Groves, F. G. Kilfoy, V. R. Grooms and L. J. McCulloch, Pennsylvania shopmen, are sick and off duty.

L. L. Parks, foreman of the Vandalia cabinet shop at Terre Haute, and his wife, will be guests of his brother, Chief Car Inspector O. J. Parks, of the Pennsylvania, on Thanksgiving.

Mrs. Barry, wife of Hammersmith Owen Barry, of the Pennsylvania shops, is now in a fair way to recover. She is at St. Joseph hospital, where she underwent a surgical operation last week.

The heating system employed in the Montpelier round house of the Wabash is unsatisfactory and the company is installing eight coal stoves of a heavy pattern, which were built at the Bass foundry.

Machinist Cyrus Harmeyer resumed work at the Pennsylvania round house last night. He was off duty over two weeks on account of the presence in his family of diphtheria. His eldest daughter died from the disease.

Chief Caller R. L. Tegtmeyer, of the Pennsylvania, was the guest of his friends in Hicksville over Sunday. Last summer Mr. Tegtmeyer played base ball with the Hicksville team and is quite a favorite with the young people of that city.

C. Potts, a machinist's helper at the Pennsylvania shops, had the first and index finger of his left hand infected from handling brasses. The digits had been slightly scratched and were not properly protected against the brass dust.

The damage suit of the administrator of Anna and Carrie Castings vs. the Pennsylvania company, is on at Van Wert. These girls were killed by a Pennsylvania train on a road crossing near Delphos a year ago and the administrator has brought suit for $6,000.

Machinist George Jerome, whom the boys in the Pennsylvania erecting shop were "laying for," quietly appeared among them this morning with a lot of good smokers and they immediately forgave him as they helped themselves to a liberal supply of cigars. Mr. Jerome got married without telling the boys of his intentions, which is a grave offense.

A DESPERATE CASE CURED.

Mr. Mahoney says in support of the contention of the United Specialists that the most obstinate cases can be cured.

To the Public:—

I had been ill for nearly ten years. It started with a very severe pain in my back. I have been practically helpless for many weeks at a time. At other times I did my work through will power only. I have treated with a number of physicians at Wabash and Huntington. I treated with three physicians in Fort Wayne. In meeting all these physicians no one ever gave me a thorough examination. On July 10th I called on the United Specialists. These Doctors gave me a most thorough examination. I determined to give them a trial. In six days I gained three pounds. I can go about my work almost like a new man. Before I began treatment I could not rest, or sit still on account of the pain. I am a machinist by trade, and am well known in Fort Wayne and vicinity. Any one is welcome to call on me and I will tell them what has been done for me by the United Specialists.

ELMER MAHONEY,
28 E. Williams Street.

Mr. Mahoney took treatment but two months, after having experimented for years. Saturday, Nov. 22, he called at this office, said he was entirely cured. Any person afflicted can be assured that they will get the very best in the way of treatment and may be able to save themselves years of misery and suffering by going to the United Specialists and getting the advanced and scientific methods that they use, instead of experimenting with amateurs who have not had the opportunity. They treat chronic and nervous diseases, including goitre, rheumatism, catarrh, gall-stones, kidney diseases, stomach and intestinal trouble. In fact, all deep-seated and chronic diseases and special diseases of men and women. Their offices are at 124 E. Washington St., and the hours are from 9-12, 1-5, 7-8; Sundays, 9-12.

STORM RAISES CAR FARE.

Cleveland Will Charge Penny for Transfer After Jan. 1.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 25.—The recent blizzard which suspended street car traffic partially for several days, dealt the hardest blow to 3-cent fare that it has encountered since it was initiated in Cleveland. It is expected that in a few days, because of $80,000 losses brought on the car company by the blizzard, announcement will be made that on Jan. 1 car riders will be charged a penny for the transfer privilege. Heretofore a passenger could cross the city for 3 cents. Hereafter, only those who do not transfer can ride for that sum. Sale of transfers will net $700,000 annually.

DISCUSS FUTURE OF THEIR PARTY

NOTED GUESTS THERE

Indianapolis, Nov. 25.—Plans for the future of the progressive party in Indiana were discussed today at a conference held in connection with the opening of the new progressive club headquarters today. Leaders from other states and prominent men in the party were on the program for addresses.

Senator Moses E. Clapp, of Minnesota is to address a meeting tonight. Other speakers are Raymond Robbins, Illinois progressive state chairman; Everett Colby, progressive candidate for governor of New Jersey in the last election; Mrs. Annette Funk, wife of the progressive candidate for governor of Illinois in 1912; former Congressman Frederick Landis, of Logansport, and John T. McCutcheon, the noted cartoonist.

William Dudley Foulke, of Richmond, was to preside at an early meeting this evening and Prof. James A. Woodburn, of Indiana university, at the big meeting tonight.

APOLLO CONCERT TOMORROW.

First Concert of Season Will Be Attended by Large Audience.

In spite of the big sale of tickets for the concert by the Apollo club tomorrow night, with Evan Williams, tenor, and Miss Alma Beck, contralto, as soloists, there are many good seats to be had. Mr. Williams alone is a sufficient reason for music loving people to attend this concert other than for their interest in the club, and Miss Beck, who has never been heard here. Evan Williams is one of the most remarkable tenors of the present generation, and is perhaps the most popular concert tenor before the public. As an example of how to sing he is an inspiration and an example to all singers, both amateur and professional.

League Lecture on Thursday.

The next lecture in the Woman's league course will be delivered on Thursday night in Westminster church, by John Cowper Powys, M. A. Mr. Powys' subject will be "Democratic Education," which he as a deep student, a keen observer and a great scholar will no doubt handle in the masterly style of his two previous subjects. The following lectures of the course will concern Ibsen, Tolstoi and Turgenieff, and "Economic Aspects of Woman Suffrage." The dates for those lectures are Dec. 5, Dec. 19 and Jan. 7. Admission tickets to single lectures can be bought at the door.

Miss Cecelia Weber, of 428 Buchanan street, was pleasantly surprised on Sunday evening in celebration of her birthday anniversary. Games were played, songs were sung and refreshments were served at a later hour, thus adding still more to the enjoyment of those present, who were Mr. and Mrs. Barney Weber, Mr. and Mrs. John Weber, Mrs. Krabach, Misses Emily Alter, Anna Schnultz, Mary Kalliher, Marie Jehl, Florence Dalegrange, Kate Oswald, Helen Krabach, Mary Oswald and Messrs. Will Hachmyer, Charles Oferly, Peter Gnau, Henry Krabach and Mr. Spranger.

Miss Bessie McCarthy, of East Creighton avenue, is visiting Mrs. George Small, of Pittsburg.

Miss Gertrude Purtell, of the "Fair Co-eds" company, playing a beautiful act at the Temple theater at present, was the guest of Mrs. C. M. Niezer at lunch today. Miss Purtell, who has a sweet soprano voice, sings the solo in the song, Paradise Moon."

Commercial Club to Call Its Committee for a Meeting.

THE Y. M. C. A. MEETING

Secretary Charles L. Biederwolf, of the Fort Wayne Commercial club, is calling a meeting of the special committee appointed to look after matters pertaining to the construction of the Lincoln National highway through Allen county. The session is to be held late this week and will be the first committee meeting since Hallowe'en when the road was dedicated.

Members of the committee are: Ward Wilt, chairman; J. W. Bell, Frank E. Bohn, Maurice C. Niezer, William M. Griffin, Martin Luecke, J. R. McCulloch, E. H. Kilbourne and L. C. Blase.

A meeting of the board of directors of the club will also be held late this week. Secretary Biederwolf has received a letter from E. E. Stacey, of Indianapolis, state secretary of the Young Men's Christian association, acknowledging the welcome extended to the organization. The club will co-operate with other local organizations in entertaining the delegates to the State Y. M. C. A. convention which meets here early in December.

SAFETY PLANS DISCUSSED.

Federation of Labor Wants Conditions to Be Improved.

The regular meeting of the Fort Wayne Federation of Labor was held Monday evening, and the members listened to a report of the safety committee. A number of cases investigated by the committee were discussed and the federation adopted resolutions urging that necessary improvements be made at the earliest possible time. One case discussed was toilet facilities at one of the parochial schools.

$100 Reward, $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

FORCES JOIN FOR PUBLIC CAMPAIGN

Two Meetings for Final Plans for Hospital Canvass.

HUNDREDS IN WORK

Confident of waging a successful campaign in the interest of suffering humanity, and eager to expand the operations of Hope hospital, two hundred Fort Wayne women and an equal number of prominent business men will start out either the last of this week or next Monday in an attempt to raise $150,000 by public subscription, the entire amount to be used in clearing the hospital of its present indebtedness and constructing a new hospital building.

The woman's Hope hospital committee is meeting this afternoon with a number of other public-spirited women of the city, and before the session adjourns twenty-one will be selected to serve as lieutenants in the campaign. Captains were named at the meeting Monday afternoon.

President J. B. Franke, of the hospital, with members of the executive committee are about the city this afternoon appointing men to serve on the men's subscription committee, and this body will meet tonight at the commercial club to work out the final details of the campaign.

The campaign will be of the whirlwind order and it is expected to raise the entire amount necessary within a week or ten days. Headquarters will be established in some suitable place in the central portion of town, and each noon the workers will meet there to submit their reports. A couple of large store windows will be secured in which to post the total of the day's canvass each day and the total of the campaign. This is done to keep the public in daily touch with the work.

Preliminary Work.

A central committee instructed to direct all the preliminary work is composed of Mrs. J. B. Harper, Mrs. J. N. Study, Mrs. I. N. Taylor, Mrs. Herman Pollak and Mrs. A. L. Johns. Miss Anna Lowry has divided the city into seven large districts, and captains for the different parts of town are named as follows:

First district, Mrs. John A. Thieme; second, Mrs. Fred H. McCulloch; third, Mrs. S. F. Bowser; fourth, Mrs. W. H. Ingham; fifth, Mrs. Anna R. Jackson; sixth, Mrs. James M. McKay; seventh, Mrs. Charles Easley.

SURRENDERS AS FUGITIVE.

Elderly Man Says He Violated Parole From Jackson Prison.

New York, Nov. 25.—An elderly man, well dressed, who said he was Frederick S. Rice, of Lansing, Mich., late of Jackson, Mich., prison, surrendered himself today at police headquarters as a fugitive from justice. He said he had violated the parole under which he was released four months ago, after serving six years of an eight-year sentence and wanted to go back to Michigan to save his sisters from loss in settling the affairs of an estate of which he and they were beneficiaries. The prison authorities were notified and the man was held.

BRIDE JESSIE WILL CUT HER WEDDING CAKE HERE.

The beautiful state dining room at the white house where the wedding repast will be served following the ceremony in the East Room, when Miss Jessie Wilson became the bride of Francis B. Sayre. It is here the monster 180-pound wedding cake will be cut by the bride and distributed. The inset shows Miss Jeffrey, the housekeeper at the white house, under whose direction the preparations for the wedding were made.

MYSTIC 13 PLAYS PROMINENT PART

Wedding of Miss Wilson and Mr. Sayre is 13th at White House.

SEE "13" EVERYWHERE

Washington, Nov. 25.—The Mystic No. 13—to some an evil superstition, but to President Wilson an omen of good luck—plays a prominent part in today's wedding at the white house. Not only by design but by a curious coincidence the bridal party numbers exactly twelve, so that when the ushers and attendant maids stand with the bride and groom in front of the officiating clergyman, the Rev. Sylvester W. Beach, of Princeton, N. J., there will be just thirteen on the raised platform banked with flowers in the historic East room.

Both the names Jessie W. Wilson and Francis B. Sayre contain exactly thirteen letters each, as does the name of the president, Woodrow Wilson.

But the thirteen that distinguishes Miss Wilson at this particular time is that she will be the thirteenth white house bride.

List of the Others.

Here is a list of the twelve weddings which have been held in the white house during its century of existence:

Lucy Payne, widow of a nephew of George Washington, and sister-in-law of President Monroe, and Justice Todd, of the Supreme court, March 1, 1811.

Anna Todd, of Philadelphia, cousin of Mrs. Madison, wife of the president, and Representative Edward B. Jackson, a great-uncle of Stonewall Jackskson, 1812.

Marie Hester Monroe, daughter of President Monroe, and Samuel Lawrence Gouverneur, of New York, 1820.

Mary Hellen, niece of Mrs. Adams, and John Adams, son of President John Quincy Adams, February 20, 1828.

Dulia Lewis, of Nashville, Tenn., a daughter of one of President Andrew Jackson's famous "kitchen cabinet," and Alphonse Joseph Yver Pageot, secretary of the French legation, 1829.

Mary Easten, of Tennessee, niece of President Jackson, and Lucien B. Polk, a relative of President Polk, 1837.

Elizabeth Tyler, third daughter of President Tyler, and William Waller, of Williamsburg, Va., January 31, 1842.

Nellie Grant, daughter of President Grant, and Algernon C. F. Sartoris, May 21, 1874.

Emily Platt, niece of President Hayes, and Gen. Russell Hastings, formerly lieutenant colonel of the Twenty-third regiment of Ohio volunteers, June 10, 1878.

Alice Roosevelt, daughter of President Roosevelt, and Representative Nicholas Longworth, February 17, 1906.

Only four president's daughters have been married in the white house until today's ceremony will add a fifth. Nellie Grant and Alice Roosevelt were married in the east room, where the bride and groom will stand. When President Cleveland, the only presidential white house bridegroom, was to marry, he chose the blue room, because the witnesses to the ceremony were few—only his and Miss Folsom's relatives and the members of the cabinet and their wives. They stood facing the center door opening on the main corridor while the Presbyterian marriage rite was spoken.

History Repeats Itself.

History repeats itself with another democratic president and a minister of the same religion performing the service.

Nellie Grant and Algernon Sartoris were married in the east room, because the company gathered, like that of today, was too large for any other room. A similar reason held at the Longworth-Roosevelt wedding. So it was for another president's daughter, Elizabeth Tyler, when she married William Waller and had a wedding described as the most brilliant of similar events up to that time. She was a great beauty, just 19, and left her father's home and the white house to begin her married life in a quiet country place.

The first east room wedding was that of Anna Todd, niece of President Madison's wife. Two years after President Tyler married his daughter off in the presence of the grandees of his day hereabouts, he married a second time himself. He went on to New York and his marriage with Miss Julia Gardner followed at her home.

President Cleveland made a precedent in having the lady of his choice come to the white house for their marriage, but he followed President Tyler's program in holding a reception in the white house after their honeymoon journey to Deer Park, to which all the notables of the official and resident world of the capital were bidden. President Tyler held his reception the day after the wedding. The couple received for two hours and then the bride showed herself on the south balcony to the crowds assembled in the garden for the usual weekly concert.

Best Man at White House Wedding Today

Specially posed photograph of Dr. Wilfred T. Grenfell, of Labrador, who was Sayre's best man at his wedding to Miss Jessie Wilson.

Dr. Grenfell is devoting his life as medical missionary to the fishermen of Labrador and Newfoundland, and for some time the future son-in-law of President Wilson acted as the doctor's assistant in the north.

Immigrant Speaks Seven Dialects Besides, But He Is Detained.

New York, Nov. 25.—Proficiency in seventeen languages would not, in the opinion of the immigration authorities, necessarily fit a man to support himself in the United States. Although Lucian Canala, a Roumanian immigrant, proved that he could speak all these and seven Slavish dialects besides, he was detained at Ellis Island yesterday pending further inquiry. Canala said he served as interpreter for some of the Boer generals in the South African war.

ISSUES "SHORT TERM" NOTES.

Louisiana Finds Way to Liquidate State Indebtedness.

Baton Rouge, La., Nov. 25.—The Louisiana constitutional convention, in session here today, unanimously adopted an amendment providing for the issuance of $11,000,000 bonds on short term notes to take up the state's indebtedness due Jan. 1, next. The state was unable to find a market for the previous issue of 4 per cent bonds. The short term bonds will be used until the state can find a market for serial bonds at not more than 5 per cent to run not longer than fifty years. A general property tax of one and three-twentieth mills is provided to be used for the payment of principal and interest of the maturing bonds.

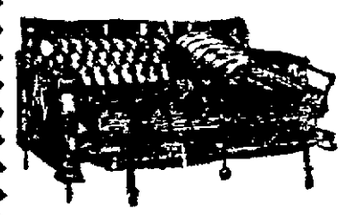
The Daven-o



The dictionary of popular opinion says the word "DAVEN-O" means the highest grade upholstered davenport, having concealed within it a genuine metal bed.

This remarkable invention stands alone in the world as a successful combination of bed and davenport, with absolutely no sacrifice of appearance or comfort either.

Economy of Space---Yet Solid Comfort

The principle upon which the DAVEN-O is constructed is fully protected by many patents and positively cannot be found in any other combination bed. It is actually a full-size, real bed for constant use (not for emergencies only), to all effects like a stationary bed, so concealed in a luxurious davenport that even an expert could not detect its double use.

On account of the perfection of the DAVEN-O as a davenport it has gone into the finest homes in America. The DAVEN-O is simply indispensable in small quarters, and no matter how many rooms you have there are always occasions when an extra bed is needed.

Remember the points that make it different from all others:

1. Working parts—Nothing but a hinge. Cannot get out of order.
2. You do not sleep on the upholstery, but on regular springs with thick mattress.
3. It is not to be made up at night, but in the morning, like any other bed.
4. All bed clothes, even pillows, are retained in bed, not stored away.
5. The bed part is made entirely of metal—therefore, perfectly sanitary.

A thousand other advantages will come to your mind as you look at it and compare it with other makes.

Arkansas Raises 4,218 Bushels on Seven-Acre Tract.

Fort Smith, Ark., Nov. 25.—Henry Schleuter, a German farmer, residing near Fort Smith, has the world beaten for raising sweet potatoes, he says. When he dug his crop on a seven-acre plat he harvested 4,218 bushels, besides many too small for anything but saving for seed. The average yield was 606.6 bushels to the acre.

Schleuter is one of the most progressive truck farmers in the Fort Smith vicinity. Other truckers raise two crops of Irish potatoes to the year, using the same ground, and their yield is from 100 to 250 bushels to the acre, but Schleuter raises a grain crop first on the land and then plants his potatoes, securing in the neighborhood of 500 bushels to the acre. Schleuter does not plow up his potatoes in digging them, but forks his entire field over, thus taking the potatoes up without bruising them.

Birmingham, Ala. F. L. Willis suffered greatly from asthma and bronchitis. He writes: "I got no relief until I took Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. It entirely removed those choking sensations, and never failed to produce an easy and comfortable condition of the throat ad lungs." Dreier Drug Co.—Adv.

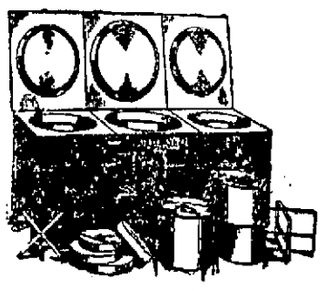
THE IDEAL FIRELESS COOK STOVE

An automatic maid, that never gets careless, never wants a day out, never burns the food, never wants to leave—that relieves you of three-fourths of your kitchen work, saves you four-fifths of your fuel bill—and cooks the most delicious meals you ever tasted.



Roasts, Bakes, Steams, Stews, Fries, Boils.

Aluminum lined, water sealed top, perfectly insulated, beautifully finished—no other fireless cook stove like it.

Fireless cooking is the simplest of all methods of cooking. Follow your own favorite recipes—the food will be more nutritious and more delicious than you have ever before served.

HEAT INSULTATION.

Fireless cooking is made possible only by heat retention. Over a gas flame, or any other fuel, heat is produced constantly, but not retained. The fire must be kept going every minute, because the heat will be lost as rapidly as a slow fire can create it.

Only a very small part of the heat created is absorbed by the actual cooking process; all the rest is wasted fuel for which you pay.

Once cooking has been thoroughly begun, it will continue as long as the heat is retained. And the food will be cooked better than by the continuous process, which boils and steams away valuable food properties, besides cooking too rapidly.

The whole secret of heat retention is found in perfect heat insulation. A fireless cooker can lose heat in two ways: through its walls and through its top. Our WATER SEALED, heat insulated top makes it impossible for heat to escape in that direction, and our walls, being the thikest sheets of aluminum used, stop it at the sides.

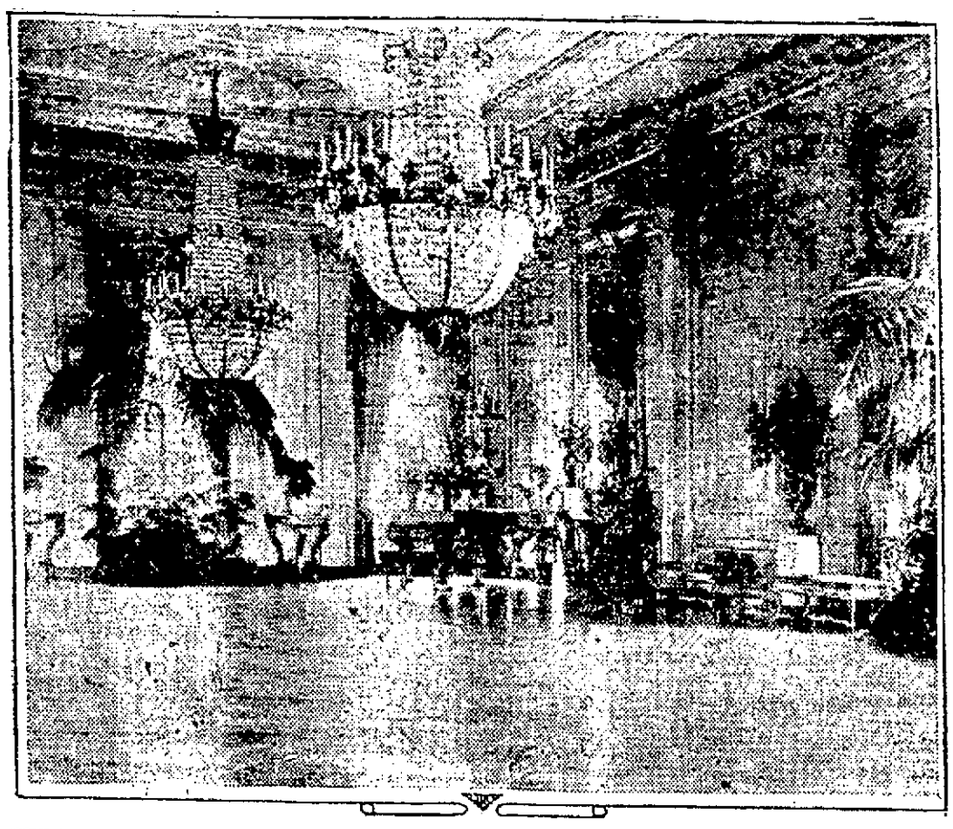
WHERE THE WHITE HOUSE WEDDING TOOK PLACE



THE FAMOUS "EAST ROOM" OF THE WHITE HOUSE, WHERE MISS JESSIE WILSON, DAUGHTER OF PRESIDENT WILSON, WAS MARRIED TO FRANCIS BOWES SAYRE.

GOWNS WERE KEPT PROFOUND SECRET

But Some Facts Regarding Bridal Toilettes Became Known.

THE COSTUMES THERE

Washington, Nov. 25.—Just what the bride and bridesmaids will wear at the white house wedding today has been carefully guarded until the event itself takes place, but the general character of the bridal gowns and toilettes has become pretty well known.

Pure white satin of a soft weave but with a decided sheen is the material of the bridal gown and real lace and orange blossoms adorn it. The mode is that of the best designers of the day and a slim effect is secured, although the satin is drapen on the skirt. The outline of the round neck is marked by embroidery which extends down one side of the skirt. The court train is quite long and narrow and is hemmed straight across the square edge. The lace appears on the corsage and makes a fluffy frill to the elbow sleeves.

The bridal veil will be arranged in the present fancy for the cap effect, the lace being nearest the face and orange blossoms giving the conventional touch to the coiffure.

The entire gown, it is further said, will express the bride's taste in the selection of her trousseau, which is of fashionable materials and made on smart models without a vestige of exaggeration in any detail.

Pink in Varying Shades.

Pink in varying shades is the color of the dresses to be worn by the five attendants. The palest tint of all will be worn by the maid of honor. Two of the bridesmaids will be dressed in a rose shade and the two others in a much lighter pink. The material is charmouse and the over-drapery of chiffon on waist and skirt matches the satin underneath. Marie Antoinette collars and flowing sleeves of creamy lace are smart touches. In their pink moire hats the trimming is of silver lace.

Mrs. Wilson, wife of the President, is to wear chiffon brocaded in velvet in an ecru tint. Lace in the same tone and a fringe of mink tails is the chief embellishment.

The bride's traveling suit is in dark green and her hat is in the same color.

Some Other Costumes.

Mrs. Franklin K. Lane, wife of the secretary of the interior, wore a blue brocaded calling dress and a long blue velvet coat. Her hat was of dark blue velvet and had creamy ostrich plumes trimming it.

Miss Genevieve Clark, debutante daughter of Speaker Clark, wore a dainty frock of pink chiffon cloth, made over old blue satin. Her hat was a black picture model.

Princess Traidos Prabandh, wife of the Siamese minister, wore a stunning gown of yellow crepe and net, embroidered in crystal beads. A tint of oriental coloring showed through the entire gown. At the corsage she wore a red rose. Her hat was black, trimmed with fur and paradise plumes.

Mrs. William B. Wilson, wife of the secretary of labor, made her first appearance at the white house function today. Her dress was of taupe metalasse poplin, trimmed with cut steel ornaments and touches of lavender velvet and lace. Her small hat was black and was trimmed with black plumes.

Miss Agnes Wilson, daughter of the secretary of labor, wore robin egg crepe meteor. The bodice was of gold threaded shadow lace over yellow chiffon and trimmings of tango velvet and rhinestones. Her hat was black and was trimmed with an aigrette.

Mrs. Lurton, wife of Associate Justice Lurton, wore cornflower charmeuse with an oriental beaded tunic and black hat with white plumes.

Mrs. Burleson, wife of the postmaster general, wore dark brown crepe de chine with touches of old rose, peacock blue and old gold in the trimming, with lace and skung fur. Her hat was of black velvet with a band of skunk.

Miss Lucy Burleson, daughter of the postmaster general, wore silver rose taffeta trimmed with lace and fur, with a hat of black velvet trimmed with flowers in old rose shades and fur.

NEW HAVEN NEWS.

New Haven, Ind., Nov. 25.—One of the most delightful entertainments given by the Y. P. B. was held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. M. A. Mason Friday evening. About twenty young people were present and a most enjoyable time is reported. In the absence of their president, Thomas Harlor, the business session was opened by Dr. Mason, followed by prayer and singing. Burton Adams gave an interesting drill on parliamentary rule. It was decided to give a living picture entertainment some time during the holidays. The Misses Ruth and Naomi Harrington extended a cordial invitation to the young folks to meet at their home west of town Friday evening, Dec. 5. After the business hour games, contests, music and refreshments were heartily enjoyed by the following guests: Misses Carol Stopher and Linda Behrman, of Fort Wayne; Florence Hutson, Inez Gorrell, Gladys Bandelier, Helen Gorrell, Mae Lenhart, Messrs. Burton Guin, Rae Hutson, Harold Bandelier, Willis Miller, Burton Adams, Worden Sturms, Marion Todd, Florence Cramer, Hugh Gorrell and Cornelius Hellworth.

Miss Linda Behrman was a weekend guest of Miss Inez Gorrell.

Florence Cramer will leave soon for Columbus, O., where he has enlisted in the United States cavalry.

Mrs. Sam Harvey and children spent Saturday in Fort Wayne.

Owing to theillness of Mrs. George Bolyard, the Sunday school board of the M. E. church met with Mr. and Mrs. Dr. Mason Thursday evening.

Miss Jennie Allen, of Fort Wayne, was the guest of Will D. Gorrell and family Saturday.

Mrs. Emmet Harper and sons, George and Bruce, spent Wednesday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. Greenawalt, at Harlan.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Zeddis and Miss Mae Zeddis, of Fort Wayne, were weekend guests of local relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Herman returned home Wednesday from a trip through various towns in Canada.

Miss Elson, of Auburn, is visiting her brother, O. Elson, and wife.

Bert Akey and family, of Huntertown, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Zeddis, Sunday.

Master Richard Blackwell and little sister, Georgiana, returned Saturday from a short visit with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver, at Macy, Ind.

Mrs. J. Harrington was a Fort Wayne visitor Saturday.

J. F. Winbaugh, of the Fort Wayne Sentinel office, called on Will D. Gorrell Sunday.

Miss Carol Stopher, of Fort Wayne, has returned home after spending a few days as the guest of Miss Mae Lenhart.

Miss Pauline Botteron, of Maysville, spent Saturday and Sunday with New Haven friends.

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Rice, of Fort Wayne, spent Sunday afternoon with Will D. Gorrell and family.

Harold Adams, of Fort Wayne, spent Sunday with local friends.

The Methodist Protestant church fair, held last Friday and Saturday, proved to be quite a success, the proceeds amounting to over $350.

A 25 CENT INVESTMENT BRINGS A LARGE FORTUNE

The small sum of 25 cents was spent by a young English singer who had suffered for years with indigestion for a vegetable which was recommended as having wonderful digestive properties by a well-known French doctor. The singer prepared a sauce with this vegetable, which he added to his food and also in the cooking. The name Waw-Waw (an obsolete South American Indian word for vegetable) was given to the sauce, and soon a company was formed which gave to the singer a large sum for the recipe. So great has been the success of Waw-Waw that it is now to be found in all parts of the world, and cooks in Europe have pronounced it unexcelled. Housewives in England have found it a necessity in the cooking, and when added to soups, salads, hot and cold meats and fish it gives a flavor unequalled. At the same time see how easily you can digest your food. Waw-Waw contains no raw spices or coloring matter and is guaranteed absolutely pure. It is most delicious and is unlike all other sauces, although in taste it resembles a Worcestershire. For 25 cents you can obtain a bottle of Waw-Waw from your local grocer and you will be convinced how much more you enjoy your food and how easily you digest anything and everything.

PARIS SAYS BARE FEET—IF YOU HAVE PRETTY TOES, PREPARE TO SHOW THEM IF YOU'D BE UP TO MINUTE.

MAXINE ELLIOTT AS "POTIPHAR'S WIFE."

If you have pretty feet and no objection to showing them in public, your chance has arrived.

For from the inner council chambers of Paris workrooms, whence the lords of fashion send forth their decrees, has come an announcement that silk stockings and slippers are very bad form with oriental costumes such as the "minaret" or with the classic draperies which are worn by more conservative women.

Paris says that women who wish to preserve the note of harmony in their gowns must show bare feet with sandals, or at any rate the modified sandal or cothurn which has the slipper foot but has narrow ribbon lacing across the instep and continuing half way up the leg. This slipper has, of course, already made its appearance wherever the tango is danced or the "trot" is trotted. But heretofore it has been worn over silk stockings.

While the production of the oriental play "Le Minaret" has set Paris crazy on the subject of "lampshade costumes," London has taken kindly to the idea of bare feet for another reason. That is the extraordinarily effective appearance of Maxine Elliott as Potiphar's wife in the English production of the Biblical play, "Joseph and His Brethren." Miss Elliott wears sandals and—rings—but nothing else, on her toes.

Fashionable women in London are all striving to imitate her and there is joy in the hearts of the chiropodists and money in their pockets as well.

Already several New York women of the more reckless section of society which writes itself with a capital S have made their appearance with bare feet, and the modern sandal or cothurn. The fashion does not seem very appealing in blizzard weather, but when has fashion paid any attention to the thermometer?

Paris says bare feet—

So you might as well prepare to shiver!

AMENDMENT IS A DEAD LETTER

Constitution Doesn't Stop "Cruel and Unusual Punishment."

THE DELAWARE CASE

(By Gilson Gardner.)

Washington, Nov. 25—Contrary to the existing impression, the constitution of the United States does not protect citizens of the states from "cruel and unusual punishments." The eighth amendment is a dead letter so far as state laws are concerned. So is the whole "bill of rights."

This is the significant fact brought out by the protest resolution introduced into the house last week by Representative Evans, of Montana. Mr. Evans wanted to demonstrate to the country that the constitutional prohibition against cruel and unusual punishments has no meaning when a state chooses to violate it. His resolution directed the attorney general to bring an injunction proceeding against the state of Delaware to stop the whipping of two negro convicts at the county jail at Newcastle, Del. These men had been sentenced to fourteen and eleven years, respectively, in jail for burglary, and in addition to forty lashes apiece on the bare back. The sentence was divided by order of the court for fear the men could not stand a single application. The second installment of the lashing was delivered on Saturday, Nov. 15.

In response to his letter to the attorney general calling on him to take any action possible to stop the cruel punishment, Mr. Evans received a reply from the attorney general which stated: "The supreme court has repeatedly held that the prohibition against the infliction of cruel and unusual punishments contained in the eighth amendment to the constitution does not extend to states, but applies only to the federal government."

The effect of this is to leave the states free to apply the whipping post, or, for that matter, the branding iron, the rack, the thumbscrews, or anything else they please. The state of Delaware has continued the ancient practice of whipping prisoners since colonial days. Its state constitution adopted in 1897 prohibits "cruel" punishments. The state has done away with the ducking stool, the pillory, the stocks and other relics of the early colonial days. But whipping on the bare back is not considered as a cruel punishment in Delaware.

In striking contrast to the lack of protection which the federal constitution (as interpreted by the supreme court) affords to human beings, is the ample protection extended property rights. The fourteenth amendment, for instance, contains the provision, "Nor shall any state deprive any person of life, liberty or property, without due process of law." It is under this provision that federal courts have repeatedly interfered to save property rights. It is under this provision that public service corporations always appeal to the courts to prevent the imposition of reasonable rates and charges for service, claiming that lowering rates will amount to "taking property without due process of law." The courts have always been solicitous about such "violations" of the constitution, but when it comes to the question of protecting helpless prisoners against lashings on the bare back, the courts are helpless and the government can not interfere because the courts have held that the prohibition against the infliction of cruel and unusual punishments does not apply to state laws.

Representative Franklin Brockkson, of Delaware, came to the rescue of mediaevalism on the floor of the house in a speech which defended the infliction of beatings on the bare backs of human beings, and showed that the infliction of such punishments is neither "cruel" nor "unusual." He had a stack of books two feet high from which he quoted volumes of opinions and decisions to sustain his position. His speech, however, did not appear to convince many that lashings on the bare skin are a desirable form of punishment of prisoners. Representative Smith, of New York, wanted Brockson to explain how it was, if whipping tended to reduce crime, that, nevertheless, six whippings in one day occur in the "little state of Delaware."

Representative Moon, of Tennessee, wanted to know if the pillory, the stocks, the ducking stool and cropping ears still is used in Delaware as a form of punishment.

Mr. Brockton quoted from Exodus to show that the Bible sustains the principle of an "eye for an eye," etc. He proved by the chief of police of Wilmington that whipping is a good thing for the state. Then he proved it by reading from Blackstone. Then he read some more from the Bible, and finished up by quoting the supreme court decisions.

Against this flood of eminent authority the house found itself powerless, and lapsed into a dignified silence of resignation until the ordeal was over and the inevitable roll call, was demanded by Jim Mann, the minority leader.

For Children There Is Nothing Better.

A cough medicine for children must help their coughs and colds without bad effects on their little stomachs and bowels. Foley's Honey and Tar exactly fits this need. No opiates, no sour stomach, no constipation follows its use. Stop colds, wheezy breathing, coughs and croup are all quickly helped. Dreier Drug Co.—Adv.

How to Make the Best Cough Remedy at Home

A Family Supply at Small Cost, and Fully Guaranteed.

Make a plain syrup by mixing one pint of granulated sugar and ½ pint of warm water and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2½ ounces of pure Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle, and fill it up with the Sugar Syrup. This gives you a family supply of the best cough syrup at a saving of $2. It never spoils. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

The effectiveness of this simple remedy is surprising. It seems to take hold almost instantly, and will usually conquer an ordinary cough in 24 hours. It tones up the jaded appetite and is just laxative enough to be helpful in a cough, and has a pleasing taste. Also excellent for bronchial trouble, bronchial asthma, whooping cough and spasmodic croup.

This method of making cough remedy with Pinex and Sugar Syrup (or strained honey) is now used in more homes than any other cough syrup. This explains why it is often imitated, though never successfully. If you try it, use only genuine Pinex, which is a most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, and is rich in guaiacol and other natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this combination.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

THE MARKETS

LOCAL MARKETS.

MARKET PLACES ARE BUSY.

Poultry Market Is Well Supplied and Prices Are Moderate.

Most commission men and dealers state that the prices for Thanksgiving will be the same as they have been for the last few days. When turkeys first came to market they sold at 16c a pound and that price has held good ever since and everything looks as though the same price will hold until Thursday.

The retail market place was as busy this morning as it is been for the last few weeks. Everybody was trying to buy the meat for their Thanksgiving dinner and consequently the dealers in poultry were very busy. Geese, ducks and chickens were plentiful and were selling for 10 @13c a pound.

There are no indications that the price of eggs is going lower. If any change is made it will probably go up instead of down for the demand for eggs is growing larger every day as the people are using them for their preparations for Thanksgiving.

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago Market.

Chicago, Nov. 25.—Wheat prices rose today owing to the unfavorable outlook for the Argentine harvest. Prices at the outset saw a rise of ½c to ¾c and there was a slight further advance.

Rainy weather throughout the west brought about firmness in corn. The opening was ½c to ¾c up, with the market later scoring an additional gain.

Oats harvested with other grain. The principal business was the buying of December and selling of May on the part of elevator companies.

Provisions weakened as a result of lower prices at the yards. First sales were 2½c to 7½c down with no sign of a rally.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, Nov. 25.—Trading was more active at the outset today than during yesterday's session of record breaking calmness, and there was a general advance in prices. Business was confined largely to the speculative stocks, but the whole list showed a firm tone. Canadian Pacific, Amalgamated and Mexican Petroleum gained a point. Reading, Lehigh, Union Pacific and Steel rose nearly as much.

The remitive strength and activity of the stock market during the morning suggested a break, at least temporarily, in the long sustained deadlock. The recent stability of values despite disturbed conditions in business and uncertainty over the Mexican tangle demonstrated that efforts of the bears had been futile.

The oversold condition of the market placed the shorts in a vulnerable position as was shown by the extent of the upturn. The rise was most pronounced in the high class railroad stocks and certain popular industrials, particularly steel. Bonus were firm.

The market closed firm. Call money rates stiffened to 3½ per cent. on further Canadian gold shipments, today's engagements aggregating $2,250,000. Prices of stocks fell off a trifle.

THE WEATHER.

OFFICIAL FORECASTS.

For Fort Wayne and vicinity: Rain tonight and Wednesday; warmer tonight.

For Indiana: Local rains tonight and probably Wednesday; warmer tonight.

For Ohio: Unsettled tonight and Wednesday, with probably rain; warmer tonight.

For Lower Michigan: Partly cloudy in north portion; unsettled in south portion tonight and Wednesday, with probably rain; warmer tonight in central and east portions.

SUMMARY OF WEATHER CONDITIONS

Fair and cool weather continues over the states east of the Mississippi, but over the plains states from the Mississippi to the Rockies much warmer weather prevails this morning, and rains have set in over a broad area in the southwest, extending from Iowa southwestward to Texas. A well defined storm has appeared over British Columbia and it is giving some rains over the north Pacific coast districts, with warmer weather in the extreme northwest.

The cloudy and rainy weather which has set in over the middle west this morning will spread eastward and give rain in this section tonight and Wednesday. It will be warmer tonight.

POULTRY BY PARCEL POST.

Tons of Dressed Fowl Pouring Into New York Suburbs.

New York, Nov. 25.—Poultry of all kinds, with the turkey still holding its own, is arriving in New York suburbs in great numbers by parcel post. A specific instance of the popularity of sending Thanksgiving turkeys by mail was the receipt of over 200 parcels of poultry at the Yonkers postoffice yesterday. In spite of the new means of transit the regular market deliveries are being made in unusual quantities, from 50 to 75 carloads arriving daily this week, expressed from the turkey belt. The most desirable birds are selling at nearly 30 cents a pound, with some of the fancy sorts at even 40 cents.

IN THE CHURCHES

THE SOUL SHOULD HEED AWAKENING

Accept the Right and Reject Wrong is Plea of Evangelist Kerr.

TELLS LIFE'S STORY

The attendance and interest continues at the Wayne Street Methodist church, where the Kerr brothers are holding an evangelistic campaign. The singing was engaged in heartily at the first part of the hour last night. Herbert Stephens, the boy soprano, sang a solo and the Kerr Brothers sang a duet.

Rev. J. McD. Kerr delivered the sermon. He told the story of his religious experience from boyhood to manhood. It was an account of the religious aspirations and struggles of a young man who wanted to be true to the best. His life story was filled with amusing and pathetic incidents.

Rev. Kerr said that he believed awakenings come to all souls and that this moment of spiritual awakening is a most critical time. There are many things that warn people of the shortness of life and the certainty of death. Rev. Kerr related an incident of his own career as a child showing how near he came to being crushed under a falling tree. All this should make men prepare to meet God. The evangelist then spoke of the agencies in the world to spread the message of salvation and paid a fine tribute to the press of the country and took occasion to mention especially the papers of Fort Wayne for their readiness to print religious news.

After an appeal to the consciences of his hearers to accept the right and reject the wrong, there was a ready response. A number of people signified their intention of accepting Christ as their personal Savior.

This evening Rev. W. H. Kerr will speak. The song service begins at 7:30 o'clock.

TRINITY CHURCH ELECTS.

Episcopal Congregation Closes Officers for New Year.

At a meeting of the members of the Trinity Episcopal church last evening the following officers were elected: Senior warden, William E. Hood; junior warden, John J. Muir; the vestrymen of the past year were re-elected and are E. D. Gaston, J. J. Kline, E. T. Wood, Joseph Slater, A. D. Fox, William Geake and H. J. Grosvenor.

The report of the treasurer was read and it shows that the church is in an excellent financial condition; $8,396.34 was contributed during the year and $6,364.65 was expended for parochial, diocesan and mission purposes, leaving $31.69 in the treasury.

"MOVIE" DRAWS LARGE CROWDS.

Evangelist Walton Discusses God's Rarest Gift to Man.

Church Notes.

There will be no meeting of the Ladies' society of the Plymouth Congregational church until December 12.

The south Hanna street bible class will hold its regular meeting Wednesday, November 26, from 2 to 4 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Charles Boucher, 450 East Pontiac street. A special program has been arranged and everybody is invited.

The official board of the First M. E. church will meet this evening in the study of the church. The contract for the installation of a heating plant in the church will be let.

The annual thank offering of the Salem Reformed church will be held this evening in the church hall at 8 o'clock sharp.

Thanksgiving services of First M. E., Calvary U. B., St. Paul's M. E. and Grace Reformed churches will be held in Grace Reformed church Thursday morning at 9:30 o'clock. Rev. Cremean, of St. Paul's, will conduct the services which will be of a praise character. The offering will be for the benefit of the Visiting Nurse League.

Dr. Zartman went to Bluffton today to attend a meeting of St. Joseph's classis, but will return tonight.

ANXIOUS TO QUIT CHICAGO.

Cult Head to Locate in New Orleans if He Escapes Conviction.

Chicago, Nov. 25.—If Otoman Zar Adusht Hanish escapes conviction on the charge of sending objectionable literature by express in violation of the interstate commerce law, for which he is being tried here, he expects to shake the dust of Chicago from his priestly robes. His "temple" in this city has been advertised for sale and he is said to be seeking a site for a colony in the vicinity of New Orleans.

Hearing of testimony continued today. The "Miss Gardner" to whom he is alleged to have sent a copy of "Inner Studies" was Dana F. Angier, a postal inspector who was gathering evidence in the case.

AUTOS COME TOGETHER.

Two Cars Have Head On Collision on Maumee Avenue.

Attempting to pass a farm wagon that was turning around in the street, a man giving his name as Mr. Bailey, of Leo, put on full speed ahead in his little runabout and crashed into an automobile owned and driven by Dr. M. F. Schick at 10 o'clock this morning on Maumee avenue. The little car simply climbed into the large touring car and the big machine was so badly damaged that it will have to be sent to the factory for repairs.

Dr. Schick says that the two front wheels, the axle, fender and lamps on his car were demolished. He believes that Bailey lost control of his car.

QUICK SERVICE TO ALL PARTS OF CITY.

READY FOR BIG ...SH.

Large Orders for Christmas Seals Are Being Received.

Harry Kaufman, who with H. H. Rogers is to take charge of the sale of Red Cross Christmas seals among the business houses and manufacturing plants of the city, stated this morning that advance orders for the stamps have been steadily pouring in for several days, in spite of the fact that they are not to be delivered or placed on public sale until Friday. One of the largest orders yet registered comes from S. F. Bowser, who has purchased 10,000 of the seals.

Miss Gertrude Lyons, custodian at the federal building, has returned from a week's visit with relatives at Indianapolis.

List' to the Merits of THE LISK

A Head of All the Rest

The Lisk is the Original Patented Self-Baster

Self-basting is secured by the peculiar (patented) shape of the cover, which is depressed towards the center. The vaporized juices of the roast condense on the under side of the cover. Flowing to the center they drip upon the roast, basting it continuously, insuring tender and juicy meat.
